Many Fireworks Spectaculars Due

Like one great big game preserve, all Marin County will have a strict "look but don't shoot" policy over the Independence Day weekend.

There'll be numerous fireworks displays for spectators, but short shrift for would-be do-it-yourself firecracker poppers, warn officials of every city plus the county sheriff's and fire departments.

First weekend celebration will be grand opening of the Mill Valley Youth and Community Center, Saturday from 10 a.m. to midnight and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. The festivities will include a parade, contests, music and dancing and a carnival to mark completion of the center by volunteer labor from the community, including many teen-agers.

MILL VALLEY PLANS

As part of the celebration, fireworks will be fired Sunday evening at the Mill Valley small craft harbor site, under control of the city's fire department.

The 14th (and last) annual fireworks display sponsored by the Larkspur-Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission will be held at 9 p.m. Sunday, with a 45-minute display of pyrotechnics due to arch skyward from Neil Cummins School. Best spot for those who want a close-up look will be Corte Madera Town Park, where the Lions Club will operate a refreshment stand from 5 p.m. until the last sparkler goes out.

Novato, as it has for the past three years, will participate in a national custom of ringing the bells for liberty.

BELLS TO TOLL

At noon on July 4, bells atop the Novato City Hall and Mission Realty will be rung for one minute in concert.

Both bells, incidentally, are locally historic, that on the city hall being the former Presbyterian Church bell, and that on the realty office having for many years been on the old Our Lady of Loretto Catholic Church.

More than 400 children are expected to participate in Kentfield's Independence Day parade Saturday, starting at noon at Wolfe Grade School.

Two ball games are scheduled, too. The Greenbrae Little League Minors will play the All-Stars at 9:30 a.m. and the League Majors versus the All-Stars game will begin at 1 p.m. both at Wolfe Grade School. Prizes for parade participants will be awarded during the afternoon game.

Peacock Gap residents will have their own fireworks display at the tennis and swimming club at 9:15 p.m. Sunday.

Holiday festivities at Peacock Gap also will include a golf tournament, tomorrow through Sunday; tennis tournament and turkey trap shoot Saturday; baseball and other games and small craft races Saturday; a swim meet, tennis and other sports Sunday.

FIRECRACKER BOOTLEGGING BOY FOILED

Sheriff's officers have confiscated over two cases of firecrackers from a 13-year-old Santa Venetia boy—and that's just a taste of what will come if Marin County's ban on fireworks is ignored, they said today.

William Johansen, sheriff's juvenile deputy, said the youth purchased about 200 packs of firecrackers in San Francisco's Chinatown, and had sold several of them to friends before he was caught.

Some of the friends were also caught, and ordered to appear at the sheriff's juvenile bureau.

$53 Raise Requested Plus Coffee Breaks

Some 8,000 Bay Area painters, including about 450 in Marin County, went on strike today after failing to reach agreement with employers on their demands for higher wages, more fringe benefits and guaranteed coffee breaks.

Talks between the Painters District Council 8 and the Painting and Decorating Contractors Assn. reached a statemate yesterday. Harry Bigarani, secretary of the district council, said further talks were expected sometime today.

The painters seek a three-year contract which would raise their basic hourly pay from the present $4.47 to $5.22 by June, 1967, and their fringe benefits from 54 and one-half cents an hour to $1.29.

COFFEE BREAK

They also ask that painters be among the first building tradesmen to get a guaranteed 10-minute coffee break each morning and afternoon.

The contractors association has rejected these proposals, but some individual employers have avoided being struck by signing interim agreements until a new contract is signed.

Ernest Kennedy, financial secretary of Painters Local 83 in San Rafael, said five Marin County employers had signed the interim agreements by this morning, and union officials were calling on others in an effort to get them to sign up also.

Kennedy was unable to say how many men were employed by the five who had already signed.

If accepted by the contractors, the union's proposals would raise pay and benefits from the current $175 for a 35-hour week to $228 for 35 hours.

OLD CONTRACTS

The old contracts expired last midnight.

Further slowing construction work in the Bay Area was the start of "selective strikes" against some employers by the Hodcarriers and General Laborers Union and Cement Masons Union.

An official of the Laborers Union local in San Rafael said no Marin employer had been struck by that union—"not yet." No cement masons' walkout was reported in the county.

Jay Johnson of Oakland, president of the Northern California District Council of Laborers, said the strike "is something we don't want."

The Laborers Union's contracts expired June 15. The unions is seeking addition of $1.07½ per hour in wages and fringe benefits.

Brown Gains Tax Victory, Signs Budget

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California began the new fiscal year today with the biggest budget in its history—signed less than three hours before a deadline and balanced by a tax program aimed at businessmen.

Gov. Brown brought months of battling to a homey, cheerful finish last night when, surrounded by chattering grandchildren, he signed the $4.18 billion spending bill.

He signed the budget into law only after bickering lawmakers broke a special session deadlock and finally gave him a $105.8 million tax plan. It put the budget in balance.

While the new taxes mostly hit businessmen, they'll also be felt by the average citizen who wants to sell his own boat, airplane or car to another individual.

Merchants whose businesses gross more than $17,000 a year will have to forward their sales tax collections to the state every month—instead of once every three months as they do now. This speedup will bring in most of the money, $90 million a year.

The rest will come from extending the 4 per cent sales tax to the leasing of heavy equipment such as computers, and to man-to-man sales of boats, cars and airplanes.

On the surface, Brown was satisfied with the solution to the greatest fiscal crisis of his seven

GREETING TO NAVY 'Welcome Home' Slows Span Traffic

Four Navy radar picket ships sailed under the Golden Gate Bridge into the bay this morning for the last time.

The men aboard received a home-made, heartfelt welcome from their wives, who lowered a giant "Welcome Home" sign over the side of the bridge.

Rubbernecking commuters also were interested in the sign, so much so that southbound traffic was slowed to a crawl from the bridge to north of the Waldo Tunnel during the height of the commuter rush.

The ships Watchman, Tracer, Picket and Locator returned after their last five-week stint off the coast from Canada to San Diego, where their radar kept watch for planes heading toward United States shores.

The ships will be decommissioned and scrapped or sold after their crews leave them at Treasure Island.

They are being decommissioned "due to the decline in threat of attack from manned aircraft," 12th Naval District personnel in San Francisco reported.

Viets Ask 'Berlin' Airlift; Marines Increase Security

SAIGON (UPI)—South Viet Nam today asked the United States to inaugurate a Berlin-type airlift to five major Vietnamese cities isolated by the Viet Cong. It was an official admission of government inability to fight through the Communist stranglehold.

More than 400 U. S. Marines landed at Qui Nhon to increase security and try to prevent a repetition of such costly Viet Cong sneak attacks as the one which killed one American and destroyed $5 million worth of planes at Da Nang before dawn today.

Qui Nhon is 180 miles south of Da Nang. The Marines also will be used to aid Vietnamese battling a Communist offensive in the central highlands 50 miles inland. Vietnamese troops in the area killed 123 Reds yesterday in fighting out of a trap, but at a cost of four American and 37 Vietnamese dead.

The deaths brought to 442 the number of Americans killed in combat in Viet Nam.

Heiress Gamble Benedict Weds

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP)—Heiress Gamble Benedict and once-wed Thomas F. Gallagher, a $11,500-a-year New York State Police investigator, were married today in St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in this college community near Utica.

The Roman Catholic Church does not normally permit remarriage of divorced persons in the church but there have been exceptions.

The 24-year-old bride's runaway marriage in 1960 to ex-chauffeur Andre Porumbeanu ended in an annulment in 1964 after she had defied her millionaire grandmother to marry him and had borne him two sons.

Fish Dying In Bay; State Aide Puzzled

Fish are dying mysteriously in San Francisco Bay, a state fish and game officials disclosed today.

About 100 striped bass died Sunday off Novato Creek, but their deaths were probably not so mysterious as deaths of other fish around the bay, said Donald Lollock, pollution bioanalyst with the San Francisco office of the department.

The bass probably died because of lack of dissolved oxygen in the water, he reported. This was attributed to the stirring up of organic muds through dredging at Bel Marin Keys.

Lollock said this cause is only a supposition made by the warden who inspected the area earlier this week. The dredging would only be an indirect cause and cannot be blamed, he said.

Dead fish have recently come to the surface off Benicia and off the San Leandro marina. The department has been unable to determine the cause.

Last week the department sent out circulars asking boaters and fishermen to report any sighting of dead fish.

Lollock said the fish will often stay under the surface for a week after death. In that time the currents can carry them some distance.

Calendar Is Flipped Back At '1900' Fair

The calendar will be flipped back 65 years at 6 p.m. today as gates open on "Summertime —1900" at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

The turn-of-the-century theme has been carried out at this year's Marin Art and Garden Fair, which will open a run extending through next Monday.

Aim of designer Charles D. Hoeppner has been to recapture the spirit of an old-fashioned Fourth of July picnic. To do it, he has made use of banners and bunting; cascades of red, white and blue flowers; white picket fences; old-fashioned, flower bedecked trellises, and gazebos galore.

The 45 amateur and professional gardens, the booths and stalls, the exhibit areas all carry out the same decoration placing a steeple-like top on the theme.

One of the final touches was Octagon House—restoring an original decorative touch that adorned the structure when it was built around the turn of the century.

Also ready to go into action are an old-fashioned organ grinder and his monkey, without which no Victorian setting would be complete.

The fair will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. tomorrow through Monday.

Body Found In Search For Family

EL ROSARIO, Mex. (AP)—A ground search party found the body of Shereen Winter, 12, in the surf about 30 miles south of here today, according to a Mexican government spokesman.

The body was spotted in the surf Tuesday by a U.S. Coast Guard search plane and a ground party spent two days traveling to the spot through the rugged Baja California desert.

Her sister, Denise, 15, managed to reach the beach and she was rescued by three Mexican fishermen Monday. Denise had struggled without food or water for about two days when she was found.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Joseph Lear, 54, sent to prison for his part in the January 1954, kidnaping of a San Francisco real estate executive, will be released on parole in December, the Adult Authority announced today.

Lear was sentenced to prison following conviction for the kidnaping of Leonard Moskovitz. Lear and Harold Jackson were charged with attempting to obtain $500,000 in ransom from the Moskovitz family.

Police caught Lear as he tried to call for the ransom from a phone booth and Moskovitz was released alive.

The company said it had offered the 11 unions in the council a four-year contract calling for a nine per cent increase in wages, a ninth paid holiday, improvements in vacations and other benefits.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Author Robert Ruark Dies

LONDON (UPI) — Robert C. Ruark, best-selling author and syndicated newspaper columnist, died here today after failing to respond to treatment for internal bleeding.

The sudden news of Ruark's death came as a shock to friends and fans of the 49-year-old author who once described himself as "a pretty ordinary hack."

Ruark

One of his novels, "Something of Value," was a runaway best seller which Ruark sold to Hollywood for $400,000.

A native of Wilmington, N.C., Ruark graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1935 and not long afterward launched his writing career which was to span 30 years and all the continents.

Ruark served in World War II as a naval gunnery officer.

According to a friend, Ruark had just turned over the final copy of a new book, "The Honey Badger," which was to be published in the fall. The hero of the book, supposed to be semi-autobiographical in nature, dies of cancer, the friend said.

Tiny Child Has Heart Surgery

Maria weighs 12 pounds 1 ounce and is considered among the smallest patients to successfully undergo heart surgery.

Maria

At birth she weighed 3 pounds, 7 ounces. Her first seven weeks were spent in a hospital incubator.

But, she weighed only 10 pounds.

Mrs. Atzinger said that she was ill during pregnancy, apparently from German measles.

Doctors found the baby suffered from a congenital heart defect.

'GUN IN HAND'

Premier Vows Viet Reforms

SAIGON (UPI)—Nguyen Cao Ky, South Viet Nam's new military strongman, said today he was ready to execute corrupt government officials and war profiteers by his own hand.

"I will clean up Saigon," the 34-year-old Air Force commander told UPI in an interview while flying to villages in the central part of South Viet Nam seeking public support for his military regime.

"No more politicians. I'll just ask them to take vacations—out of Saigon. I'll tell them they can make politics in Kontum or Quang Ngai."

Ky was referring to two provinces where the fighting against Communist guerrillas has been heaviest in recent weeks.

"I'll govern this like a military command," the flamboyant pilot said. "What I want is results.

"If I say the price of rice should drop, what I want to see is a price drop. Even if I have to. . .

Ky's voice trailed off. But his point was clear. He wagged his index finger as if it were a pistol and accompanied the gesture with the words, "20 or 30 people."

"The day I find a corrupt official, it will be my great pleasure to shoot him myself," Ky said. He added that he is prepared to stamp out governmental corruption "at any cost."

Despite the tough talk, Ky indicated he does not want to become an inflexible military dictator. He insisted, however, that he does not plan to be pushed around by the myriad religious and political factions in South Viet Nam which have toppled six previous Saigon governments.

"I'll admit that I'm young and inexperienced in politics," Ky said, kicking off his shoes and sprawling out on a small bunk in the C47 transport plane taking him to Hue, South Viet Nam's second largest city.

"But on the other hand, revolutions must be carried out by the young and inexperienced.

"What are we trying to do—politics or revolution?

"I'm ready to accept advice. I'm ready any time to discuss anything — but not with a gun at my head."

Then, reflecting on the 10 days which have passed since he became premier, Ky said:

"If I'd have known all the problems, I'd never have taken the jobs."

Ky was referring to the fact that in accepting the premiership, he insisted on retaining his command of the Vietnamese air force.

"I no longer have personal ambitions," Ky said. "I don't intend to go to the end of the road. Only to open the road. To show the Vietnamese people there is a new road. It's a long road — perhaps 10,000 kilometers."

Feud Over Party Line Ends In Gun Deaths

MOUNTAIN RANCH (AP) — Two men are dead and a mother of three is seriously wounded after gunfire erupted from a feud over a two-party telephone in this Calaveras County town.

The sheriff's office said that A. K. Berry, 60, became angry yesterday and fatally shot rancher Troy C. Mobley, 43, wounded Mobley's 28-year-old wife, Marge, and then killed himself.

Berry was caretaker for a neighboring ranch.

Deputies said that before the shooting, Berry entered a store ran by Mobley's brother-in-law, Eric Senders, and protested that Mobley was tying up the party line.

Senders told deputies that he replied there was nothing he could do.

Senders said that Berry, in a range, answered: "Well, there's something I can do. I'll go up there and kill them in cold blood."

Deputies said that Berry with a .30-caliber rifle shot Mobley once and his wife twice. The shooting in the Mobley's trailer home was witnessed by a friend of the couple and two small children, deputies said.

Deputies said that Berry fled to his own home and killed himself with a 12-gauge shotgun.

SENATE CREATES WATCHDOG GROUP

Bobby Baker Probers Recommend Internal Guards Against Conflicts Of Interest

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a sequel to the politically high-voltage Bobby Baker investigation, Senate leaders planned to activate today a new permanent committee to police senatorial ethics.

Three senators of each party already have been chosen for the new watchdog committee on standards and conduct, created by the Senate a year ago. But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it was decided to hold up announcing them until the Baker probe was finished.

That came yesterday, with a final report from the Rules Committee that said Baker had flagrantly abused his office to "feather his own nest." The report recommended careful consideration of the possibility of indicting Baker for violation of conflict of interest laws.

A one-time Senate page boy from Pickens, S.C., Baker was reported to be in California yesterday and could not be reached for comment. He had invoked the Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination in two appearances before the Rules Committee and refused to answer questions.

One sharp disagreement within the Rules Committee was over a Republican allegation that contractor Matthew H. McCloskey, former ambassador to Ireland, slipped a political payoff to the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund in connection with the big District of Columbia stadium McCloskey's Philadelphia firm built.

The Democratic majority report called this whole story a figment of the imagination of Don B. Reynolds, a key witness in the investigation. He is a local insurance man with whom Baker was associated. The GOP minority said the stadium situation involving McCloskey was "highly irregular."

One of the sidelights of the report was a Justice Department document, printed as an appendix, which said Ellen Rometsch, a West German beauty who figured in the Baker case, admitted being a call girl.

It said Mrs. Rometsch, who has since gone back to Germany, admitted knowing Baker but denied any intimacies with him "or with any government officials including congressmen, Cabinet members, or persons connected with the White House."

A letter from Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach suggested that publication of the entire file on Mrs. Rometsch "would serve to destroy the reputation of several individuals on the basis of allegations which may be false or which are wholly unrelated to the subject matter of the committee's inquiry."

Collision Suit Seeks $100,000

A Santa Venetia woman, Ileen Sponsky has filed a $100,000 personal injury damage suit in Marin Superior Court for alleged driving negligence by an employee of Batholow and Co., San Rafael.

Defendants are the company, the driver, Frank Souza, and Castro Leasing Co., from whom the Bartholow vehicle allegedly was leased.

The plaintiff of 10 Venetia Meadows, alleges the collision of her vehicle and one driven by Souza at San Francisco and San Diego boulevards in San Anselmo last Nov. 18 was Souza's fault.

She suffered injuries and shock, the suit charges.

FAIR MAID—Jan Hantzsche, 18, of 4320 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, is a contestant in the Sonoma-Marin District Fair queen contest. The fair will run July 15-18 at the Petaluma Fairgrounds. The queen will be named on the opening night.

Lawmaker Benefits On State Agenda

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has added a sixth subject to the agenda of the special session of the California Legislature.

The new item deals with retirement benefits for legislators who might be affected by court-ordered reapportionment. The legislature already passed one bill—now signed into law—which would permit a legislator who lost his seat through reapportionment to draw retirement benefits after only four years' service.

De Facto Segregation In State Schools Told

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California School Boards Assn. (CSBA) Thursday delivered its long-promised report on de facto segregation in the state's public schools.

The report, begun nearly two years ago, was to have been based on the first statewide racial census of students and teachers. However, only about half of the state's 1,500 school districts responded.

The report did not identify participating districts. In general, its figures indicated that de facto segregation exists in many districts but that few local officials have developed a policy to deal with it.

The report said the number of minority group teachers employed by school districts was "quite small." However, it noted there were no figures from "a number of large districts in the state. . .known to have a comparatively higher percentage of minority teachers on their staffs."

According to the CSBA report, the census covered 2.2 million elementary and secondary students, 56.3 per cent of the nearly 4 million total. Within this group, the census found a 24.6 per cent minority composition, including 12.2 per cent Mexican-American, 9.1 per cent Negro, and 3.3 per cent oriental and the other white.

The report said that most minority group students were enrolled in urban schools. However, it continued, "significant comparisons within the metropolitan districts, leading to conclusions regarding de facto segregation, cannot be made without a census, school-by-school."

Suicide Prevention Group Names Gill

Dr. Theodore Gill, president of San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, is the new vice president of the board of trustees of San Francisco Suicide Prevention, Inc.

The organization, launched two years ago to help suicidally disposed persons, is moving into new offices at 3410 Geary Boulevard, San Francisco, where it will operate an emergency telephone referral service for such persons on a 24-hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week schedule.

$150 Transmission Stolen From Truck

Donald F. DeLong, co-owner of DeLong Chevrolet at 550 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, told police Tuesday that during the weekend someone stole a transmission valued at $150 from a pick-up truck parked in the rear of the fenced area of their yard.

Troy W. Austin, an employee at DeLong Chevrolet also told police yesterday that thieves stole the bucket seats from a car parked in their lot the night before.

Actor's Wife Seeks Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Steve Cochran's third wife has asked the court to appoint her administratrix of his estate.

The former Jonna Jensen, 23, who filed the petition Tuesday, had brought suit for divorce before he left on the cruise on which he died. She charged extreme cruelty.

Meanwhile, the body of the actor, who died on his crippled yacht Rogue off Guatemala, was flown to Pacific Grove for burial.

Cochran died apparently of a lung ailment on a voyage from Acapulco, Mexico, to Costa Rica. The Rogue drifted in the ocean for days with the actor's body and three young Mexican women companions who did not know how to sail.

The women, aged 14, 19 and 25, survived the ordeal. They will be returned to their Acapulco homes.

State Blasted As College Leader Quits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Paul A. Dodd, president of San Francisco State College, has resigned complaining that legislators were deaf to his pleas for increased budget control by trustees and administration.

"The idea of the Department of Finance telling me, as president of San Francisco State, that I can have a gardener in my budget when what I need is another instructor is not in the best interests of the college and certainly not serving the taxpayers of the state," said Dodd, 62.

"Since coming here I have been discouraged and disillusioned with my lack of responsibility over the college's fiscal affairs."

Dodd became president of the college in 1962. His resignation will become effective in December. He said he has already accepted a post as West Coast director of the Institute of International Education.

Aging Dog Missing; Reward Is Offered

Gino, a large, aging Kerry Blue terrier, has been missing from his Tamalpais Valley home since June 18, and his owner, Charles S. Yonan, is offering a reward for news of his pet.

The 8-year-old, 55-pound blue-black dog looks like a shaggy, graying poodle except for partly-upright ears and a white spot on his chest. Yonan asks for telephone calls or a letter to Post Office Box 291, Mill Valley, with news of Gino's whereabouts.

Mayors Agree To Draw Up Hotel Tax

Members of the Marin Council of Mayors agreed last night to have the county counsel draw up a proposed uniform occupancy tax on motels and hotels for their consideration.

They made no promise, however, on passage of such a tax, and some expressed reservations.

County-tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez spoke to the council about the proposed tax, and said the county would act as the collection agency, distributing the receipts to each city.

Corte Madera is the only city which now has such a tax. The county board of supervisors passed an ordinance for an occupancy tax in the unincorporated areas, but it was not published, so is not effective. Fontez said the ordinance was being held up to see if a uniform tax for the county can be agreed on by all the cities.

The mayors also discussed the need for fire protection for boats and the possibility of a joint venture to purchase fireboats. Some cities, including San Rafael, felt their protection was adequate. Sausalito, Tiburon, Belvedere and Mill Valley agreed to have their fire chiefs and city managers meet further on the subject.

Sausalito Mayor Jan Paul Dyk reported on the marijuana situation in his city and at Tamalpais High School. The mayors agreed to hold a special meeting in Sausalito on July 28 on the subject of marijuana.

A resolution was approved commending former San Rafael mayor John F. McInnis for his efforts with the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

About 35 persons attended the meeting at the Meadows in Terra Linda. The City of San Rafael was host.

etrated the airbase's heavy defenses. The man, Do Xuan Hien, 29, disclosed his commando group had trained specially for the mission. Nearby villagers who saw the squad did not inform Vietnamese officials.

U. S. officials said the 14-man commando squad was part of a 90-man Communist team. The others manned mortars while Hien's group penetrated the airfield itself.

In the air war, U.S. planes knocked out two North Vietnamese airfields at Vinh and Don Hoi, a spokesman said. They also bombed "underwater bridges" — a revelation U. S. air strikes are hitting the Reds hard enough to revert to this ingenious method first used in Korea. The bridges are built with planking just below the surface to make aerial detection difficult.

Other planes bombed the big air field, supply depot and troop center in he Na Son-son La-thuan Chau barracks about 120 miles west northwest of Hanoi. Heavy damage was reported. Other planes dropped leaflets urging opposition to Hanoi.

Commerce and Finance Minister Truong Thi Ton told UPI the formal request for the massive airlift was made to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of American military forces in Viet Nam. He said Westmoreland promised an immediate study to see if it could be started with the planes on hand.

At Da Nang officials said the captured Viet Cong commando said part of the squad laid down a mortar and recoilless rifle barrage while others slipped past an extensive network of U.S. Marine sentry posts, barbed wire and booby traps to attack the base flightline.

Marine Corps. Gen. Lewis Walt said only last Saturday that Leatherneck defenses around the Da Nang airbase had made it impenetrable to Communist attack.

In Washington, Sen. Wayne Morse called on the Johnson administration today for an all-out effort to "stop the war" in Viet Nam and "to exhaust every possible means of doing so through the United Nations."

The Oregon Democrat, long an outspoken critic of President Johnson's Southeast Asian policy, declared that the President's 20th anniversary speech to the U.N. last week "unfortunately honored the charter of the organization more in the breach than in the observance."

Noting that Johnson expressed a willingness to accept whatever effective action the U.N. might take, Morse contended the President said nothing "to indicate that the United States is willing to accept the obligations for international behavior placed upon us by our signature on that charter."

"We can not stop the war alone," Morse declared in a Senate speech. "But the United Nations could, if it would, and the United States has more to gain from a U.N.-imposed peace than from a continuation of the fighting that can lead anywhere but to victory on our terms."

Man In Court In Dope Case

Peter Wright Lenihan, 31, of 420 B Street, Sausalito, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Superior Court on a charge of selling marijuana. Judge Thomas F. Keating continued the case to July 19 for plea entry.

Two other defendants on the joint indictment, Wilhelm Alexander Rossknecht, 27, of 10 Reed Lane, Sausalito, and a "John Doe," are also scheduled to appear July 17.

The trio was involved in the June 4 crackdown on alleged selling or possession of the weed in southern Marin County.

Lenihan is represented by George Walker, San Francisco attorney. Rossknecht is free on bail and "John Doe" is still at large.

a special inducement for North Marin residents to stay near home for the Fourth, rather than take to the highways. The club is sponsoring a free bean feed at Stafford Lake Park, beginning at noon Sunday. Free beans, salad, bread and coffee will be offered; other fare may be purchased from club booths set up to help Lions' projects for the blind.

Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club members will hold a barbecue with entertainment at the club's future community building site on Tennessee Valley Road from 2 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Since Monday will be a legal holiday also, some communities will celebrate the Glorious Fifth.

Among these will be Bolinas, where the annual Independence Day Parade, a costume affair, will start at 11 a.m. from the Coast Guard Station and proceed to the beach. Races and tug-o'-war will follow at the beach.

Sausalito will have a fireworks display at dusk Monday for the first time in five years, according to William Remak, director of the sponsoring Sausalito Artists and Merchants Assn.

Police and fire authorities stressed that purchase or use of fireworks by individuals is strictly forbidden throughout Marin County, and the laws will be enforced.

Novato Girl Is Missing From Home

Seventeen-year-old Claudia Stell Hernandez has been missing from her Novato home since 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, police reported today.

The girl's father, Luis Hernandez of 1333 Cambridge Street, reported yesterday that she left to take some friends home at that time, driving a 1964 white Chrysler sedan, and did not return.

The other girls reached home safely, police said.

The sedan was reported to have been seen yesterday afternoon on Highway 36, headed toward Sonoma.

Claudia was described as five feet three inches tall, of medium build, with black hair, brown eyes and dark complexion. She was wearing a white blouse, white knee-length slacks and white flat shoes.

Demos Learn Of War On Poverty

Marin County's efforts in the War on Poverty will be centered in Marin City, Walter Bremond, community relations director, told the Marin Council of Democratic Clubs last night.

Marin's five point anti-poverty program will consist of (1) working with the Job Corps in Marin City; (2) aiding pre-school children; (3) conducting a county wide anti-dropout program; (4) helping unemployed find jobs; (5) teaching illiterate adults to read and write.

Robert Politzer, first congressional district director of California Democratic Council, appointed Joseph E. Forrest of Novato to head a committee to seek the seating of Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party candidates in the House of Representatives.

Prison Money Cut In Budget

San Quentin Prison will have to continue to fight fires and flush toilets with salt water.

Among items red-pencilled from the 1966 state budget by Gov. Edmund G. Brown last night was $105,000 to convert a salt water system at the prison to fresh water.

Irving Ritter, prison business manager, said the pipes in the old system are badly corroded "but I guess this means we'll have to defer replacement another year."

Baker of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, and Rev. Fred C. Braunschweiger of Trinity Lutheran Church.

Landlady Says Woman Missing

A San Rafael woman in her 50s has been missing since the week before Easter.

This came to light yesterday when Ingeborg Zywitza, manager of an apartment at 1403 Fifth Avenue, told police that Riba Van Kelley, one of her tenants, had never returned from a "two-day trip" early in April.

She left all her belongings when she left saying she would be gone for two days, Miss Zywitza reported.

The missing woman was described as 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds, with light gray hair.

Roundup Started On Stray Dogs

The Marin County Humane Society today started a roundup of stray dogs in Mill Valley and Tamalpais Valley.

The roundup followed a petition by six Tamalpais Valley residents to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, and complaints from the City of Mill Valley about dogs around the city-owned bus depot.

TANYA ANDREWS

Funeral for Mrs. Tanya Andrews of Mill Valley, held up 11 days in an effort to find next of kin, was set yesterday by the San Francisco Public Administrator.

She will be given a double funeral service with her brother, Lee Zieff, 59, of San Francisco.

Mrs. Andrews, 53, died June 20 of a heart attack. Her brother, Zieff, died 12 minutes later, also of a heart attack. Two other brothers had also died of heart attacks.

Funeral will be at 1:30 p.m., tomorrow at Sinai Memorial Chapel in San Francisco and the brother and sister will be buried in Eternal Home cemetery, Colma.

FLORENCE LEWIS

Private funeral for Florence Lewis, 92, of San Francisco, long-time Belvedere resident, was held Tuesday in San Francisco.

She died Saturday in a San Francisco rest home after a long illness.

Burial was in Home of Peace, Colma. Tributes may be in the form of contributions to a favorite charity.

MRS. HICKMAN

Mrs. Elizabeth Mary Hickman, 81, who as Bessie Barriscale appeared in silent films and on the stage with stock companies, died yesterday in a local rest home after a long illness.

She had lived at 1118 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, from 1943 until she entered the rest home two years ago.

In 1906 she married Howard C. Hickman, an actor and playwright. He died in 1949.

Between Hollywood film roles, the Hickmans appeared on the stage with the Alcazar stock company. In 1919, they began an eight-year vaudeville stint on the Keith-Orpheum circuit in skits written by Hickman.

Surviving are a son, H. Wallace Hickman of Kentfield, two granddaughters and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at St. John's Episcopal Church. Burial will be private, directed by Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

SARAH SIMMONS

Mrs. Sarah Simmons, 63, died in a local hospital today after a long illness.

Mrs. Simmons had resided with her son, Louis Simmons, 59 Cole Drive, Marin City for the past 15 years. She was a native of Baker, La.

Six Public Rabies Clinics Set By County During July

The Marin County Health Department will hold six public clinics to vaccinate Marin County dogs against rabies during July, health officer Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht announced today.

Marin has again been designated a "rabies area" by the State Department of Public Health, she said, and all dogs in Marin four months of age or older must be vaccinated and licensed.

Dog license renewals begin on July 1 and all dogs must be vaccinated and licensed by August 31. Dog owners may check their pets' rabies vaccination papers to see if revaccination is needed this year, Dr. Albrecht said.

The temporary clinics will be open between 6 and 8 p.m. at the following locations on staggered dates:

July 8, Health Department, 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael; July 13, Marion School, 1705 Marion Avenue, Novato; July 15, corporation yard, Sycamore Extension off Camino Alto, Mill Valley; July 20, Ross School, Lagunitas Road, Ross; July 22, County Fire Department, Woodacre; July 27, Marion School, Novato.

ART REVIEW

Patron's Choice Show At Art, Garden Fair

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Take five people, all non-artists, sit them down in front of a work of art and chances are you'll get five different opinions. Then ask them to select a show from 400 such works and you'll probably come up with one as interesting and varied as the Patron's Choice Show of the Marin Society of Artists' gallery in Ross.

The society's patron's choice is the one time when patrons, not artists, have a chance to decide. The non-artist jurors for this unusual event were Peter Behr, Marin county supervisor; Jack Craemer, editor of the Independent-Journal; Dr. Theodore Gill, president of the San Francisco Theological Seminary; Dr. Virgil Hollis, Marin County School Superintendent and Ralph Priestley, architect. They were carefully selected for their knowledge of the various materials and styles artists use to express themselves. And they were chosen for their varied interests.

As a result, the patron's choice adheres to no particular school, conservative or avent garde. Instead, its paintings, sculpture, ceramics, jewelry and decorative art, represent nearly all points of view in a real cross - section of public taste.

The winning entries illustrate this range. In mixed media, for example, the first award went to a very large, very amusing mouse called "Magnificent Melvin," whereas, the honorable mention went to a shadowy abstract in which brown-toned shapes reveal the barest hint of line drawing. In textiles, a hanging tapestry in geometric shapes won first, while honorable mention went to a realistic racoon stitchery. And in graphics, a gentle, misty landscape won first, while a red circle, cross-hatched with black and set in a jet black square, was the choice for a mention.

In choosing the jurors faced the same general conflicts most views do. What is most important? . . . technique or sentiment . . . familiarity or style?

"I could never take that home and live with it," was one juror's final objection.

"But I think the composition and technique are good," was the reply. "At any rate, it's a good conversation piece. You need that too"

"Oh."

There was laughter; finally, a vote. It wasn't unanimous, but the painting was accepted.

That vote is rather a barometer of the patron's choice. No one school is given an unanimous approval or disapproval, any more than everyone is able to agree unanimously on art. It makes for an interesting show, a varied show, a patrons' choice, including something to please everyone no matter what his opinion.

The Marin Societp of Artists' Patron's Choice Show can be seen throughout the Marin Art and Garden Fair. Thereafter, it will be open daily until Aug. 1, from 2 to 4 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursdays, at the Frances Young Gallery, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

More than 1,500 people are expected to attend the Novato Lions Club July 4 free bean feed at Stafford Lake Park, starting at noon Sunday.

The annual picnic is held to encourage families to celebrate together and stay off the highways, said Harry Young, Lions Club president. There will be games and entertainment in the afternoon for children and adults, he said.

August Draft Call Down From Two Prior Months

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department has issued a draft call for 16,500 men to be inducted into the Aarmy during August.

The quota was below the 17,100 men drafted in July and the 17,000 called up in June. But it was sharply above the levels of earlier this year when inductions fell to a low of 3,000 a month.

Latest available figures showed the Army's strength was 959,325 men on June 1 compared of 981,000 a year ago.

The Pentagon said the Army will need 27,100 recruits in August, of whom 10,600 are expected to be volunteers.

The August call will bring to 3,100,659 the total number of men drafted since Selective Service was reactivated in September, 1950, after the outbreak of the Korean War.

Teachers' Salary Publications Branded An Invasion Of Privacy

Publishing of school teachers' salaries by the Independent-Journal came under fire this morning on the Radio KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" program as a useless invasion of privacy, and was defended as a necessary invasion of privacy.

Mrs. Earle W. Hart of Corte Madera said "the only service the I-J has rendered is to satisfy the curiority of a small minority of its readers. The publishing of a salary after a person's name is meaningless. It tells nothing about what the person does or how well he does it"

She was joined in her opposition by John C. Fitch, principal of Bel Aire and Granada schools in the Reed School District. He said: "Many of the salaries published are inadequate information, having nothing to do with the years of preparation a teacher spends or the responsibility factor, for instance.

"Many people won't understand these figures. We don't know what the Independent-Journal is trying to do. What is the purpose of publishing these salaries?

"The proper thing to do would be publish salaries of similar positions in different school districts and in different professions. I can only surmise that a responsible media like the Independent-Journal is planning to do just that."

Fitch said, however, that he had no objection to having his salary published.

In nearly identical words Mrs. Anita C. Strom and Mrs. J. Lee Chaille insisted that the public "has the right to know how its money is being spent."

"I agree that it is an invasion of privacy," said Mrs. Strom, a member of the San Rafael Board of Education "but public employees must expect this." Mrs. Chaille, wife of a school teacher, concurred, saying "the I-J has indeed performed a service in publishing these salaries."

The panelists also split on the question of how knowledge of the salaries of their teachers would affect the attitude of students.

Mrs. Chaille said, "My children were disgusted when they read that some of their best teachers are making so little." Mrs. Hart felt that children would lose respect for lesser-paid teachers.

Mrs. Strom voiced the hope that her board would soon authorize a study of merit pay for teachers. The California Teachers Assn. has said it is not feasible to judge which teachers are the best, "but I feel it is not as difficult as they say. Everyone knows who the best teachers are," said Mrs. Strom.

Mrs. Hart was apprehensive that potential teachers would be turned away from the profession by publication of their salaries, but Mrs. Strom thought the published salaries were such as would attract future teachers.

All four speakers agreed that publishing of salaries has raised interest and that this is beneficial. Mrs. Strom said it would counter the "apathy of the voter, who loses interest when he can't get information."

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Sausalito Recruiting Four New Policemen

The Sausalito police department has begun seeking applications for patrolmen to fill the four new positions approved Tuesday by the city council.

Final application date for the jobs is July 15 at the City Hall. Written examination will be given July 24 at Central School. Salary range is $543 to $660 with persons with previous city police experience being eligible to start above the first step of $543, according to Lt. Ted Zink, acting chief.

Parade Ban Struck Down

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A federal appeals court has struck down city ordinances banning parades without permits but civil rights demonstrators here still face arrest if they march on the State Capitol.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans issued an injunction yesterday halting enforcement of three Jackson ordinances dealing with public parades and distribution of handbills.

Although the city technically didn't have to obey the appellate court action until it received formal notice, the police radio network told officers to end arrests under the three city ordinances shortly after court acted in New Orleans.

Tiburon Citizens Group To Dissolve

The more than 200 members of the Tiburon Citizens Planning Advisory Committee officially will end their duties at a meeting at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School.

Answers to a questionnaire sent to all committee members on aspects of disagreement among sub committee reports will be made public. Representatives of city planning consultants Williams, Cooke and Mocine of San Francisco will give their opinions on the citizens' study.

Marinwood Puts Budget Vote Off

Directors of the Marinwood community services district last night discussed the proposed $105,330 budget for fiscal 1966 but put off final action until a meeting at 8 p.m. next Wednesday at the community center.

The board voted to petition for exclusion from the county fire department tax on structural fires, barely beating last night's deadline for exclusion.

Directors hired Robert Skidmore as fireman at $475 a month, replacing Frank Galvin, who resigned last month.

Hangover Cure Volunteers Weather A Damp Afternoon

A San Francisco bartender and 10 eager volunteers got together yesterday afternoon in a somewhat unruly "scientific experiment" to test a hangover pill invented by a Sausalito druggist.

Speaking scientifically, it was a total success, according to pharmacist Frederick S. Mayer.

Speaking uunscientifically, it was a pretty wild afternoon.

The 10 subjects, chosen at random, included an East Coast insurance adjuster, a geologist, a woman newspaper reporter, a chemistry laboratory technician, two salesmen and a few secretaries.

They gathered at Big Al's in North Beach and downed five stingers—drinks made by mixing a jigger of 80-proof brandy with a jigger of creme de menthe. The five drinks were supposed to contain a third of a pint of alcohol.

Mayer told each human guinea pig to down two pills before the drinking started. He had each one fill out a chart as the afternoon poured on: dizziness, vomiting, drowsiness or pain.

To make things really scientific, however, Mayer gave a "placebo" (dummy pill) to half of the participants, but didn't tell anybody who got them.

All were told to take two more pills before they stumbled into bed hours later.

The party—that is, the experiment—quickly grew boisterous with jokes, songs and a few of the subjects falling off their bar stools. The five stingers were supposed to be imbibed over a three-hour period, but all were gone in 45 minutes.

This morning, Mayer called each subject to find out how things had gone. The results came out nearly perfect, he said. The five who took the placebos all got sick and felt miserable today. At least one missed work.

Those who took his Reprieve pills felt fine, Mayer said.

Water Supply Study Asked

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Sen. Thomas M. Rees, D-Los Angeles, this week introduced in the special session of the legislature a resolution calling for a 90-day study of the availability of a water supply for the Santa Monica Mountains recreation area.

The measure, SR18, describes the area as the portion of the Santa Monica Mountains bounded by Mulholland Drive on the north, the Pacific Ocean on the south, the San Diego Freeway on the east and Topanga Canyon on the west.

The resolution directs the State Department of Water Resources to study the availability and possibility of developing sources of irrigation water in the described area and to report its findings and recommendations thereon within 90 days to the Senate Water Resources Committee.

A spokesman for the Department of Water Resources said such a study probably would require the services of seven persons for the 90-day period and would have a price tag of about $25,000.

Hub School Taxes To Rise 10.5 Cents

A $1,290,692 budget meaning a 10½ cent tax raise was approved last night by trustees of San Anselmo School District.

The figure is up from the budget of $1,144,151 for the fiscal year just ended. The new budget figure is expected to raise the operating tax rate from the present $2.145 per $100 assessed valuation to the maximum allowable in the district of $2.25, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said. Total tax rate for the last fiscal year was $2.685.

The budget rise came primarily from the decision to hire two teachers for educationally handicapped teaching, rental of four portable classrooms and addition of four teachers needed for them, Parodi said.

Trustees also approved a fire and liability insurance contract for the district with John Barry insurance agency, Larkspur, at a cost of $3,252 yearly.

Trustees will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at Isabel Cook School to consider bids on grading and drainage work at the Red Hill intermediate school site.

Trustee Doris Harnsberger was absent, on vacation, last night.

Solutions Are Sought To Tiburon's Traffic

Tiburon Boulevard traffic problems were scrutinized last night by 50 Tiburon Peninsula residents meeting with state highway engineers at a meeting sponsored by the City of Tiburon.

Traffic safety engineers of the State Division of Highways and residents sought solutions to the need for a left turn lane on Tiburon Boulevard at Stewart Drive, with engineers saying that funds are lacking for the project.

Residents also asked help in getting students from St. Hilary's School safely across Tiburon Boulevard, and in disembarking commuter bus riders in the area between Palmer Drive and Rock Hill Road.

Highway engineer A. E. Simmons noted that some of the traffic dangers would be cut down if the 35-mile speed limit on Tiburon Boulevard were enforced.

'Old Friends' Battle Way Into Jail Cell

Two "old friends" battled in a San Anselmo bar last night and wound up in county jail.

Fred Dale Holland, 29, a tree trimmer of 320 Glen Park Avenue, San Rafael, was booked by San Anselmo police on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, battery and disturbing the peace.

Adam Nicholas Mikolon, 35, a San Anselmo construction worker, was booked for battery and disturbing the peace.

Police were called at 10:37 p.m. by a bartender at the Knoll Inn, 300 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, who said two men were fighting the bar. They found Holland sitting in a booth, one eye black and his face bruised. Mikolon displayed a gash in his right forearm and said he fought to defend himself when Holland threatened him with a knife. But, he said, they were "old friends."

Another customer produced a pocket knife which he said Holland had used, and which he found in a booth where the fight started.

The bar was full of customers, police said.

Old Sausalito Hotel Is Sold To Investor

The half-century old Sausalito Hotel Building at Bridgeway and El Portal, Sausalito, has been sold, it was announced today.

The building and hotel operation was purchased from Sausalito Parkway Associates, Inc., by C. Harold Hobbs of 171 Prospect Avenue, Sausalito. Hobbs, a former oil company executive in Texas, has lived in Sausalito about a year and describes himself as "a semi-retired real estate investor."

He said he plans to act as manager of the property and to complete the Victorian theme of the hotel.

The building was constructed in 1913 on part of the original Henry Meyer land adjacent to the park and waterfront and reconstructed in 1959 to house the Sausalito Post Office on the main floor. Later the building was further remodeled for Alioto's Arbordale Restaurant and retail stores which presently occupy the balance of the ground floor.

The hotel, on the second floor, has 16 rooms, which have been decorated and furnished in Victorian style. It has been popular as a honeymoon hotel.

Spaceman Has Second Earthly Traffic Mishap

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Scott Carpenter, who made thousands of accident-free miles in space, has had his second earthly traffic accident within a year.

Carpenter, 40, escaped with scratches yesterday when his car and another hit headon on U.S. 98 west of Panama City at 6:30 a.m.

The highway patrol said Carpenter fell asleep at the wheel and his car veered to the wrong side of the road. Eddy Washington, 51, of Panama City, driver of the other car, was hospitalized with minor injuries.

Wednesday Carpenter pleaded guilty to a charge of driving on the wrong side of the road and was fined $25.

Fire Districts All Seek Out On County Tax

All cities and fire districts in Marin County have petitioned for exclusion from the County Fire Department structural fire protection tax levy, Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows announced today.

If the board of supervisors agrees to exclude the districts and cities from the structural fire tax, it would mean a one-cent reduction in the county tax in those areas. Taxpayers in unincorporated areas not in special fire districts, however, would be faced with a nine-cent rate increase.

The Inverness Public Utilities District and the Marinwood Community Services District were the last to file petitions. They came in yesterday, Barrows said.

Sausalito School Committee Asks Immediate Integration Program

Sausalito School District's three primary schools, including the predominently-Negro Manzanita School in Marin City, should be "immediately desegregated" and a "vigorous program" should be started to integrade Richardson Bay School, which contains fifth through eighth graders.

The district should seek to eliminate its racial imbalance by attempting an early merger with the Mill Valley School District.

These are two of 10 recommendations made to the Sausalito School District board Tuesday night by a citizen advisory committee. The trustees, three of whom left office today on expiration of their terms, postponed discussion of the report.

"The committee has had to face the reality that racial imbalance and racial segregation are the focal problems out of which boil many specific problems," the report reads.

"Eradication of these undemocratic and destructive circumstances must be pursued with force, vigor and sacrifices."

The committee cited a statement in the Leonard report of 1951 that "Marin City is a challenge in practical democratic action to the Sausalito School District."

"Fifteen years later the challenge remains in some respects only partially met and in others intensified," it wrote.

The 18-man committee, headed by Robert E. Rogers, said it fully endorses unification but this has failed twice at the polls.

"We have every confidence that racial balance could be achieved through unionization (merger)" the committee said, adding this could be achieved in 12 months.

Cost of the merger would be more expensive for Sausalito district, which has a small bonded indebtedness compared to Mill Valley.

The reporter noted that Sausalito, with about 6,500 people, has only 396 pupils in the school district, mainly Caucasion. Marin City, with 2,500 people, has 407, mainly Negro. Forts Barry, Baker and Cronkhite have 1,400 population and 175 pupils, mainly Caucasian.

An immediate first step to alleviate the racial imbalance, the report suggested, would be leasing empty Sausalito classrooms to Mlil Valley School District. (Such a program was approved by Mill Valley School District trustees Monday and 93 pupils are to be bussed to Richardson Bay School in September.)

Two other short-range remedies which should get immediate attention, the committee said, are redistribution of primary grade children and possibly conversion of Richardson Bay School facilities into an "educational park" (an educational center for the entire Sausalito district).

The 10 recommendations to the Sausalito board, in brief, are:

1. A professional study of the entire Sausalito school system, including policies, procedures, administration, curriculum content and method, personnel qualifications and community relations.
2. A professional legal and fiscal appraisal of properties and holdings of the district.
3. An appraisal of monetary resources available and the prospects for their extension.
4. An immediate integration of primary shools, and to the extent necessary a vigorous program of integration in the desegregated upper-grade school.
5. Cooperative effort with the Mill Valley School District and other neighboring school districts, with expectation of early unionization and ultimate unification.
6. Increased administrative support for the Sausalito school system. An aide to the superintendent and an assistant principal at Richardson Bay School are particularly recommended.
7. Development of effective communication among all schools in the district, between neighboring districts, and among faculty, administration and community.
8. Establishment of a permanent citizens advisory committee.
9. Cooperative efforts with schools of higher learning in the Bay Area, and particularly those with programs for teacher education.
10. Developing an educational program "of outstanding character and quality so as to reverse negative impressions and images of the present schools of the district.

The committee, appointed by the board on a recommendation of Wilson C. Riles, head of the State Commission on Equal Opportunities in Education, began work last October and met once a week.

New Marine Corps Official To Live In Corte Madera

Col. Arnold W. Harris took over today as director of the 12th Marine Corps District, with headquarters in San Francisco, and announced he will make his home in Corte Madera during his tour of duty in the office.

Harris succeeded Col. Maurice W. Fletcher, who retired after completing 30 years' Marine Corps service. Fletcher had been district director since August, 1962.

Colonel Harris reported to San Francisco from San Diego, where he was commanding officer of the communications and electronics school battalion at the Marin Corps recruit depot since December, 1961.

A native of Salt Lake City, he was graduated from University of Utah and commissioned as a Marine second lieutenant in May, 1941. During World War II, he participated in capture and occupation of Guam and southern Palau. His decorations include the Bronze star with combat "V", presidential unit citation, and Navy unit commendation with one star.

He and his wife, Marion, have three children.

LESSON IN CIVICS—Gov. Edmund G. Brown signs record $4.18 billion budget into law in Sacramento last night while grandchildren Joseph Kelly Jr., 6, and Carol Kelly, 4, visit the governor's office. Brown told the boy, "Joe . . . when you're as old as I am, the state of California will be greater because I signed this bill." (AP Wirephoto)

Brown Handed Tax Program, Signs Budget

Before signing the budget, Brown announced he was trimming $7.21 million from it and would veto another $10 million in unspecified appropriation bills.

"I intend to continue to maintain the strictest standards of economy," he remarked.

The final budget total is $4,179,000,000 — rising above the estimated $3.9 billion the state spent in the just completed fiscal year. Brown had asked for $4.03 billion in January, but he and lawmakers added to the final total.

Final agreement on the revenue package came in the early evening when the Senate voted for it 33-1 and the Assembly followed with 50-25 approval.

The quick votes were in contrast to hectic end of the general session June 18 when Brown's tax plans were wrecked in a dispute between the Senate and the Assembly.

Brown warned that next year's legislature still will face the problem of "providing permanent new sources of revenue."

He told newsmen he intends to meet with legislative leaders in September to discuss some of these revenue sources.

Meanwhile, the special session crept into another day today—still undecided about two big issues, funnelling federal medicare funds to California and buying land for a new state park at Lake Tahoe.

Callas Says No

More Publicity Is Urged For College Board Sessions

Why don't people attend meetings of the Marin Junior College District Board?

The meetings don't receive enough publicity, said Richard D. Leer, a college student, at the board's session yesterday. Announcements "should be on the front page" of the Independent-Journal, he contended.

Trustees wondered whether there might be ways to make the public more aware of the college's activities. And one of them, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy, felt county supervisors are among the ill-informed.

Mrs. Deedy said more people should attend the board's budget discussions.

In this, she agreed with Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, who said at Monday's board of supervisors meeting that more should attend school board meetings because "that's 60 per cent of your tax dollar."

But she was annoyed at other comments by the supervisors about school taxes, particularly that of chairman Peter H. Behr that the impact of assessment boosts could be reduced "if school districts were not of a mind to lap up the last increment of assessed valuation."

Such remarks by supervisors, said Mrs. Deedy, were made "more from ignorance than from information."

Man Sentenced To Death Row

BAKERSFIELD (AP) — Edmund Earl Reeves, 26, of Ridale was sentenced yesterday to die in the gas chamber for the slaying of oilfield worker Floyd Parsons, 59.

Reeves, an ex-convict, showed no emotion as the sentence was pronounced by Superior Court Judge J. Kelly Steele. He was taken immediately to San Quentin Prison's Death Row.

Reeves pleaded innocent by reason of insanity, but was found sane. He was tried without a jury. He was accused of the robbery and execution-type killing of Parsons on March 24 at a pumping station north of Bakersfield.

Senate Remap Now In Hands Of Court

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The political future of California state senators moved into the chambers of a federal court today, as the deadline for reapportionment of the upper house passed without action.

The issue sparked bitter rivalry between the Assembly and Senate in the six-month regular legislative session which wound up June 18. All reapportionment plans perished in the debacle of the meeting's final hours.

When Gov. Brown brought lawmakers back into special session to deal with his budget, he didn't include reapportionment on the agenda.

The reason was summed up appropriately by the upper house redistricting leader, Sen. Stephen P. Teale, who called the 39 incumbents "a group of dead men. At least half of these men are not going to come back and they could care less" about the matter.

Commenting one week ago today, the West Point Democrat said senators "would just as soon throw themselves on the mercy of the court to consider the plans that have been before us and let them make the decision."

When the three-man panel of federal judges that ordered the Senate to switch to a population basis of districting will act is uncertain. One report is that they will meet in Los Angeles in the middle of August to determine their next move.

Their original decision came last December in a taxpayers' suit filed by attorney Phill Silver, charging the current basing of districts on county lines is unconstitutional.

He based his case on the historic U.S. Supreme Court ruling of one year ago that both houses of state legislatures must have districts of substantially equal population. California's upper house is one of the most flagrant violators of the edict. A senator representing three rural eastern counties answers to 15,000 constituents, while the lone Los Angeles County senator serves almost seven million persons.

The court gave lawmakers until today to adopt a redistricting plan, and said it would take over the task if the legislature failed to comply.

The question on the minds of everyone now, is how the court will do the job. Among many questions raised are whether it will allow the current Senate to act in the budget session starting next February, and whether a special election for the Senate will come before the regular election in 1966.

When reapportionment becomes a reality, as almost everyone predicts, control of the Senate would shift from rural areas to urban centers. The southern one-third of the state, if districted solely on population, would have a majority, as it now does in the Assembly, basically apportioned by population.

Arizona's Hottest

NEW YORK (UPI) — The highest temperature in the nation yesterday as reported to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Alaska and Hawaii, was 109 at Gila Bend, Ariz. The low this morning was 34 at Pelliston, Mich.

Water Plan Gains Over Protests

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The way was almost clear today for construction of a big water and power project on the scenic middle fork of the Feather River to provide free water for rice farmers.

The State Water Rights Board, overruling conservationists' protests, granted rights yesterday for a series of dams and powerhouses on the wilderness stream to conserve water for irrigation in the Sutter Basin.

Only one obstacle, the Federal Power Commission, now stands in the way of the modified $74 million development sought by four water districts headed by the Richvale Irrigation District.

The U.S. Forest Service, which studied the rugged middle fork for possible inclusion in the wild river" system, is expected to renew its opposition before the commission.

The Forest Service opposed any dams in the scenic canyon, and indicated it would carry the fight to the FPC. Plumas County and a sportsmen's group called the "Save - the - Middle Fork League" also opposed the project.

All But One Quad Is Dead

One of the girls and one of the boys died yesterday and the second boy died today. The survivor is a girl.

Mrs. Mullaney has six other children.

Deficit Transit Plans Draw Taxpayers' Fire

The Fanning transit study, presented to the Marin County Board of Supervisors last week, is already drawing criticism from Marin citizens.

Retired transit executive Paul J. Fanning recommended that the county either take over the present Greyhound lines system in Marin or else sign a management contract with the lines.

In either case, the county would invest $3.6 million in new buses. In either, Fanning predicted a deficit operation.

G. Norman Gravdahl of 135 Nova Albion Way, San Rafael, in a letter to supervisors today, suggested a third possibility: That the county agree to underwrite Greyhound's losses up to a certain point.

He argues that rapid transit will replace buses and the investment in new buses now does not make sense.

Mark Roth of 101 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley, in a letter to board chairman Peter H. Behr wrote he would hate to go on paying bus fares and have to support the system through taxes as well.

"What is being offered is so little that spending taxpayers' money on it is clearly not justified," Roth wrote.

Supervisors are to discuss the report further at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

San Rafael Schools Tax Rate Is $2.295

The tax rate of San Rafael Elementary School District for the fiscal year just closed was $2.295 per $100 assessed valuation.

One digit was dropped in a story in yesterday's Independent-Journal, making the rate appear as $2.95.

Span Ticket Refunds To Be Discontinued

Refunds on unused tickets in Golden Gate Bridge commute ticket books will be discontinued on all books purchased after today.

L. E. Castner, president of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, announced the action was taken by the bridge board because of the reduced rate at which the commute book is sold.

A 50-trip book sells for $6.50, or the rate of 13 cents a trip, as against 25 cents for a single trip. The 50-trip commute book on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge sells for $10, or 20 cents a trip, compared to 25 cents for a single trip.

Refunds have been computed on the Golden Gate commute books by taking the sale price of the book, deducting a 50 cents service charge and a 25 cent regular toll for each ticket used.

Health Center Study Group Urges Caution In Planning

The Ad Hoc committee, asked to study the proposed county community mental health center in an addition of Marin General Hospital, has advised county supervisors and the hospital board to "make haste slowly" on a facility that will cost $1.25 million and soon run up operating costs of half a million a year.

The 10-man committee, headed by Dr. M. W. Neal, said it had little time to make decisions and recommendations involving such long-range significance. But the committee suggested the supervisors appoint a clinical director soon to guide the planning of the center and be responsible for its operation when completed.

The committee also urged that no arbitrary age limits be established and children as well as adults be treated.

Hospital directors and supervisors are to meet in a joint session at the hospital Tuesday noon to discuss the proposed center.

Due At Convention

San Rafael building designers Edward Hageman Jr., Ray S. Hall and Ervin H. Hille are scheduled to be among 700 designers and their wives attending the 15th annual convention of the American Institute of Building Design July 15-18 in Coronado.

Summer Reading Program Starts

The program, which encourages writing as well as reading, is "for children of all ages," according to Mrs. Dolly Georgetti, acting librarian. The youngsters read a book, then are invited to make up a story and illustrate it.

Junior College Budget Adopted; Tax To Rise

The Marin Junior College District Board yesterday approved a tentative budget of $3,246,264 for fiscal 1966, an increase of $403,839 over that for the fiscal year which ended yesterday.

The new budget may result in a boost of a half-cent or a cent in the current tax rate of 76 cents per $100 assessed valuation, according to Norman Bird, business manager.

The tentative budget includes an eight per cent pay boost for all fulltime district employees, which was granted by the board June 17.

The salary total for classroom teachers is listed at $1,164,451, up $181,837 from the 1964-65 year.

Bird calculated that $1,376,322 would be collected by local taxes at a collection rate of 97 per cent. Trustee Kent O. Seymour questioned the rate.

Seymour noted that Reed School District recently had financial difficulty because of high delinquency in property taxes. The Reed District geared its budget to an estimated four per cent deficiency, and the actual deficiency proved to be 8.35 per cent.

Bird said he felt the 97 per cent collection rate "was reasonable and realistic" in view of the district's reserve fund of $393,677.

The board is scheduled to have a budget hearing Aug. 5.

The Marin Junior College District Board Also:

1. Appointed Alfred Heppe of Glen Ellen, Sonoma County, former supervisor of science teaching at University of California at Berkeley, as assistant dean of instruction at an annual salary of $13,404, effective today.

2. Re-hired Stephen E. Epler as college president at annual salary of $21,546; Herbert Blanchett as administrative assistant to the president, $11,227, and Bird as business manager, $15,309. These three jobs were not included when the board previously acted on re-employment, but all three were granted eight per cent salary increases.

3. Created a department of behavorial science including anthropology, education, psychology and sociology, and a drama-speech department.

4. Appointed the following department heads: William H. Scalapino, behavorial science; Maryjane Dunstan, communications; James C. Dunn, drama-speech, and Stephen Bruff, science.

5. Hired Wilma York as instructor in the registered nurse program from Feb. 1 to June 30, 1966, at salary of $4,455.

6. Hired Judith M. Shay as secretary to the administrative assistant at $375 per month, and William Turner as a programmer trainee in data processing at $513.

7. Received a $2,079 dividend check from the state compensation insurance fund, representing 31 per cent of the district's premiums for the year ending June 30, 1964.

8. Heard a report from Harry J. Pieper, head of the health and physical education division, that attendance at the summer recreation program varies according to the weather, and "that the program will come close to paying for itself if the weather holds out."

9. Adopted a resolution seeking an additional $108,587 in insurance payment for loss of the college gymnasium which was destroyed by fire Dec. 16, 1963.

10. Passed resolutions applying for federal funds for federally-connected students and for building a planetarium.

11. Commended students who received honors at graduation ceremonies, and directed that each be sent a letter from the board.

12. Set next Thursday at 8 p.m. in Room 24, Harlan Hall, for its annual organizational meeting, and adjourned to that date.

Burglars Enter Home, Get $140

Loss of $140 cash in a burglary of the home of J. L. Soske Jr., 788 Beechnut Court, Terra Linda, was reported yesterday by sheriff's officers.

Mrs. Soske told deputies a bathroom window screen was pried for entry. Several bedroom bureau drawers were ransacked, she said.

Alex Peter Golitzin, 6 Stadium Way, Kentfield, told officers his home was entered by ripping a front window screen sometime yesterday. Two bottles of liquor were taken, he reported.

JFK Library Note Received

Forest Knolls sign painter Daniel Giddings has received a personal note of thanks from Jacqueline Kennedy.

The thanks were for Giddings' conception of the outside of the proposed Kennedy Memorial Library, with a sketch that included a statue of the late president placed at the top of a wide, massive stairway.

The sketch, along with hundreds of other ideas, interpretations and drawings, is in an archive in Boston, and will be placed in the library upon its completion.

Corte Madera Man Ends 28-Year Career With Navy

Navy Lt. Cmdr. Joseph W. LeDoux of Corte Madera retired yesterday after 28 years of Navy service.

He was presented a certificate of achievement from Rear Adm. F. V. H. Hilles, commander of the Military Sea Transportation Service, Pacific Area, at its Fort Mason headquarters in San Francisco.

LeDoux had been assistant chief of staff for administration at the MSTS headquarters since November, 1961. Prior to that he was on the staff of the commander, North American Air Defense Command, in Colorado Springs, Colo.

He was born Nov. 5, 1918, in Hibbing, Minn., and joined the Navy Feb. 16, 1937, after graduation from high school in Little Falls, Minn.

He worked up through the ranks from seaman apprentice. He was commissioned an ensign in 1944, and achieved the rank of lieutenant commander Sept. 1, 1954.

He and his wife, Donna, have three sons. They reside at 17 Mohawk Avenue, Corte Madera.

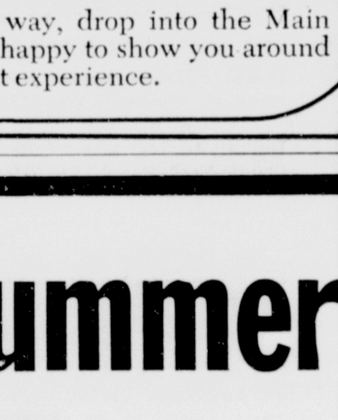
Boy's Condition Remains Critical

Bruce Leggett, 14, of 309 Fourth Street, Sausalito, remained unconscious and in critical condition today in Marin General Hospital—the seventh day since he was hit by a car while riding a motorcycle in Homestead Valley.

The motorcycle driver with whom Leggett was a passenger, Mark Corey, 15, of 126 Filbert Street, Sausalito, was treated for head injuries and cuts after the accident.

The auto driver, Emmett E. Sappington, 69, of 127 Cazneau Street, Sausalito, remained in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

May I Help You?



This was the way I started a message to you, 5 months ago.

"You know, for many years, as a public official, I have been helping people who wished me to assist them—so this position with the Tiburon National Bank will be a most pleasant one, especially as Mr. Tijerina, the Bank's President, said to me, 'Bill, although you'll be on the Bank's payroll, I want you to consider yourself as working with and for our clients'."

Since then I have had the great pleasure of assisting many of my friends of former years, in addition to greeting and helping new ones at our Greenbrae-Kentfield office, located at 917 Sir Francis Drake opposite Ash Avenue. It is really a pleasant, friendly place to come to and our bank offers all phases of banking service. My desk is here, although I work out of the home office in Tiburon. Mr. Lynott, Manager of this office, has had many years experience in banking and will be extremely helpful to you.

I would, also, again like to thank you, the many friends who were so gracious in coming to the testimonial dinner given for me the 26th of May. It was so very good to see all of you.

Cordially,

Bill Tijerina

Vice President

P.S.
When you are down Tiburon way, drop into the Main Bank and say hello. They will be happy to show you around and you will find it a most pleasant experience.

Heckling Of Old Recluse Ends In Death Of Youth

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gunshot death of a teen-age boy has removed Oliver Cromwell Edwards Jr. from his old-style, memento-filled home — a house regarded as "haunted" and "spooky" by generations of neighborhood children.

The 87-year-old recluse, said by police to have been the victim of 35 years of heckling, was booked on suspicion of murder in the death Tuesday night of Herbert Patterson, 14.

Edwards, balding and gray-bearded, assertedly fired one shot from a 32-caliber Savage automatic after the Patterson boy and two 12-year-old companions began throwing stones and bricks against his house.

Neighbors said the dead teenager had a brick in his hand when they found his body in front of the house.

According to Police Lt. Art Rotter, Edwards and his mysterious house have been targets of horseplay for years.

"We have officers who grew up in this area," he said. "They remember heckling him 30 years ago."

When police kicked open the front door, they found each room filled with early-day furniture, oil paintings of unknown value and other artwork. There were also huge paintings that Edwards had done himself by candlelight.

Marijuana Talk

Sausalito Police Chief Kenneth H. Huck will speak on marijuana Sunday at 11 a.m. on KPIX television. The program, "Bay Window," will also have as speaker Matthew O'Connor, agent in charge, state narcotics bureau.

Latin American $75-A-Day Trip For LBJ In-Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Antonio J. Taylor, a brother-in-law of President Johnson, is touring four Latin-American countries as a $75-a-day consultant to the Agency for International Development.

An AID spokesman said yesterday Taylor's assignment is to survey the possibilities for a regional Latin-American program in handicraft and artisan works which could be produced for export earnings.

Taylor, 60, is a long-time operator of an arts and crafts store in Sante Fe, N.M., the spokesman said, and has traveled widely in Latin America in the course of business. On this trip he is visiting Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia and Guatemala.

The spokesman said the $75-a-day rate, plus expenses, is standard for such consultants.

DISTRIBUTION CENTER SHOWS PROGRESS

Five months after construction was started on the two and one-half million dollar McGraw-Hill Book Co. plant north of Novato, the scene from overhead looks like this. Harry P. Graves, vice president of the company, reports that because of good weather work has progressed according to schedule and completion is expected during the first part of December.

Market Move Lower, But Closes Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed slightly higher today after having been lower most of the day.

It registered its third straight day of advance by a narrow margin.

While the gain was small, it indicated that the market had the strength to pull out of a decline.

In its rally the market recovered about 25 per cent of the loss in the six-week slide since it hit an all-time peak May 14.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.4 million shares, compared with 6.93 million yesterday.

However, this was a far cry from the wild trading and gains of the two previous sessions.

Wall Street seemed to feel that the expected had happened —that the market had to pause after the two big days.

Changes of key issues were mostly fractional but some losses ran to a point or so.

The averages were dragged down by a loss of more than 2 points by heavily weighted Du Pont.

American Telephone dipped a minor fraction although it had reported record earnings for the 12 months ended May 31.

Chrysler lost nearly a point while General Motors and Ford were off slightly.

Control Data dropped more than 2 points.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Merger Planned

OAKLAND — Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp. of Oakland, has announced that negotiations are being carried on respecting a merber of Longhorn Portland Cement Co. of San Antonio, Tex., into Kaiser Cement and Gypsum Corp.

Net Income Accelerated

SAN FRANCISCO — American Building Maintenance Industries significantly accelerated its revenues, net income and earnings per share during the first half of fiscal 1965 which ended April 30.

Mid-year revenues totaled $19,569,997 compared with $17,086, 575 a year ago, an increase of 15 per cent. Net income reported was $345,266, an increase of 16 per cent over the $296,612 earned during the first six months of fiscal 1964.

This is equivalent to 46 cents per share on 747,104 shares outstanding compared to 40 cents per share on 749,404 shares outstanding in the comparable period last year.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Military-Civilian Joint Use Of Hamilton Runway Supported

An unexpected source of support to bolster Marin County hopes for joint civilian and military use of the Hamilton Air Force Base runway has been announced by Ben Ostlind, chairman of the airport committee of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Ostlind, who has spearheaded the recent drive for partial civilian use of the facility, cited an article in the June issue of "Airport Services Management" on a current investigation by the General Accounting Office of the federal government into the possibility of increased airport sharing.

According to the article, the investigation has resulted in the inspection of several airports successfully operated under combined use and a review of federal spending on civilian facilities near military flight installations.

Hickam Field at Honolulu, with heavy military traffic, and Minneapolis - St. Paul International Airport, shared by a variety of reserve flight outfits, have been mentioned as examples of successful coexistence. Many headaches of joint use are now said to have been totally eliminated.

Ostlind said he has written the General Accounting Office describing the Marin County situation and requesting information on how to proceed in securing a close examination of Hamilton and putting into effect a joint plan here.

"This may be just what we have been looking for," he said. "If the General Accounting Office gets in the act we are bound to have some high level attention focused on our efforts."

A NAVAJO FREIGHT LINES truck and trailer pulled up to the unloading dock of McGraw-Hill Book Co., Corte Madera, early Monday morning and unloaded 32,000 pounds of new books (20,000 volumes).

The freight rig had left the company's distribution center in Hightstown, N.J. — not a week or 10 days before as is customary, but had made the 3,000-mile "Pony Express" run in a matter of 68 hours. Using two drivers and alternating with fresh two-man teams at Kansas City and Albuquerque, special service was provided by Navajo to prove the practicality of such truckload shipments when required to adjust stock levels.

Harry Graves, McGraw-Hill's vice president here, said that next year all of the company's books will be distributed from three regional centers and a quick transfer from one region to another on short notice may be necessary to service customers.

LAST MINUTE CHANGES that couldn't happen at the Marin Art and Garden Fair did happen. Frouge Corp. has cancelled its exhibit and the space was quickly picked up by the Marinero land development in Tiburon. Another cancellation was by R. Olson of Bolinas, who will not show off his bonsai trees.

The Olson booth has been taken by the Storm Center of Forest Knolls. Marge Storm will display her women's ponchos and things, and husband Robert will show his jewelry items.

CARNOHAN RAUBE

JOHN CARNOHAN of C and H Metal Products, Santa Rosa, secretary - treasurer of Associated Heating and Sheet Metal Contractors, Inc., representing six North Bay counties including Marin, has been elected a director of the national association. His firm recently completed work at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael.

Carnohan, along with executive manager Ray White and president Stanley Knoles (both of San Rafael) and three others from the North Bay association recently attended the national convention in Philadelphia.

Latest West German Craze—Buy A Castle To Call One's Very Own

By JOHN DORNBERG
Worldwide Press Service

BONN—Most house dwellers have to content themselves with the old adage that man's home is his castle, but in West Germany these days there are plenty of people who call a castle their home.

Some 3,000 of the 9,000 castles that used to grace the German countryside are now either homes or prospective homes.

There are more than 50 castles, palaces, fortifications and historic old residences currently for sale in the Federal Republic. They range in size and price from 100 marks ($25) annual rent for seven municipal fortification towers of an old Rhineland town, to an 18-room medieval castle in Bavaria—complete with antique furniture, silverware, china and paintings—available for 1.3 million marks ($325,000).

Those who have neither the money nor the desire to own an entire castle now have an opportunity to own part of one. For a Duesseldorf real estate dealer has decided to turn one old castle into a co-operatively-owned apartment house.

"What can you do with a castle?" says real estate dealer Claus Gorges. "You can let it go to ruin. You can make a hotel out of it, or a clinic, or a gambling casino. You can live in it alone and be afraid of the ghosts. OR . . ." he smiles, "you can divide it into nice apartments and sell them to nice people."

The last choice is what Gorges has decided on for Casparsbroich Castle near Duesseldorf. He is dividing this magnificent 15th Century castle into 30 units, each equipped with the most up-to-date kitchenettes and bathrooms. Tenants will have common use of the original old knight's hall, rococo reception rooms, and 40,000 square yards of landscaped gardens. The price per apartment: $14,000.

In affluent West Germany, castle-owning has become a major enterprise. Of course quite a number still serve as residences for Germany's aristocracy and royalty. Others have been converted into museums, youth hostels, hospitals, old-age homes, orphanages, restaurants, hotels and offices for municipal, state or federal government agencies.

Two of the federal government's major departments are located in old castles near Bonn. The Justice Ministry has set up shop in one, and the Federal Properties Ministry in another.

More than two dozen of West Germany's most exclusive hotels and restaurants are located in old castles—some run by descendants of the original owners.

Berlepsch Castle, in Witzenhausen near Kassel, was built by the first Count of Berlepsch in 1369 and has been in the hands of his descendants ever since. The present count turned it into a hotel and restaurant about a decade ago.

Kronberg Castle near Frankfurt was built in 1888 as a dowager residence by Empress Victoria, widow of Germany's Kaiser Frederick and daughter of Queen Victoria. In 1945 it was confiscated by the U. S. Army, served as an officers' club; later it was turned into one of Germany's best and most expensive hotels.

Castle-owning and castle-converting has become such a big business, in fact, that one Cologne architect, Hans Derkum, now makes castle work his specialty. In addition he serves as architectural advisor to the German Castle Association, a 66-year-old society of castle buffs supported by 800 wealthy members whose names make up almost the entire Blue Book of German blue-bloods.

"In most of these places you don't measure the roof surface in square feet or meters but in acres, and when you have to call in a roofing or tile man to repair it you don't get a bill for thousands but hundreds of thousands of marks. And often the roof is just the beginning."

Draining a moat and then repairing a 400-year-old foundation can put a severe dent in even the best-stocked bank accounts.

"However," says Derkum, "people who do own a castle are always very proud of it."

One might add that by the time they're through paying for the restoration and upkeep, there may be little but pride they can afford.

Scientists May Be Tuning In On The Day Of Creation

By Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Strange noises from outer space picked up by a radio telescope in New Jersey may be the remnants of a gigantic explosion that created the universe some 10 billion years ago.

This is the contention of some Princeton University scientists looking for evidence to support the "big bang" theory of how the stars and galaxies came into being.

Princeton physicist P. J. E. Peebles says the telescope was tuned to a wavelength where radiations from a "cooled fireball" could be expected.

Under the "big bang" theory, all the matter in the universe originally was in one place. It was ejected outward in every direction by a fantastically powerful explosion. Now condensed into galaxies, stars and planets the original matter continues to move ever outward.

If such a blast occurred, all of space would have been filled with an enormous fireball. Peebles, in a report to the American Institute of Physics, says that even though radiation from the fireball cooled as the universe expanded the remnants should be present today.

The Princeton group calculated what the spectrum of this radiation should be and was preparing to build a special receiver when Bell Laboratory scientists reported finding strange noise in their telescope that seemed to fit the fireball.

Police Amazed, But Find Stolen Engine

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Flint police, accustomed to tracking down stolen cars, were slightly shaken recently when the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. reported one of its diesel locomotives had been filched.

How Pilgrims Knew Fishy Corn Secret

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UPI)—It was Squanto, the friendly Indian, who gave the Pilgrims a valuable tip as to what to use for fertilizer in raising corn.

Squanto told them to take alewives from a nearby brook and lay the little fish on the cornhills like the spokes of a wheel.

Australia In Kilowatt Race On Asian Radios

By Worldwide Press Service

CANBERRA — Australia has been forced to enter the battle for international radio audiences in Southeast Asia.

A new transmitter is to be erected to boost Radio Australia programs beamed to the trouble spots to the north of this island continent. The most powerful radio transmitter in the southern hemisphere will be built on Cox Peninsula across the harbor from Darwin.

Approval of the Australian project, which calls for an outlay of $6.3 million, coincided with an Indonesian announcement of an $11 million plan to expand Indonesia's national and international broadcasting facilities.

The area into which both Indonesia and Australia will beam stronger transmissions with their new facilities is already a prime target for Radio Peking, Radio Moscow, the BBC and the Voice of America.

Australia aims to have her new boosters ready by mid-1968. Indonesia is targeted on mid-1969.

Radio Australia is not an incondiderable factor in Southeast Asia, even now. Under direction of the Australian Broadcasting Commission, it transmits to Southeast Asia for 208 hours a week. Languages used are English, Malay (also covering much of Indonesia), Chinese, Vietnamese, Thai and French.

It is calculated here, on the basis of letters from the area served, that Australian broadcasts reach an audience of 56 million on any one day.

A HOT FOOT AND DINNER AT HOME PLATE

'Baseball Can Use A Few More Laughs'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— "I think there's room for more fun in baseball," says the world's most famous clown, Emmett Kelly, who once gave a hotfoot to Casey Stengel at home plate.

Kelly, made up as the well-known bum, "Willie," cavorted until 1955 for the Ringing Brothers Circus and worked with the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1957, their last year in Ebbets Field.

"The fan needs entertainment before the game," says Kelly. "Fans like infield practice, but it could be augmented by clowning.

"But the 12 minutes of groundskeeping offers them nothing. Nobody gets a thrill out of watching them drag the infield and chalk up home plate."

When Kelly was with the Dodgers, he was on the field during batting and infield practice and worked out a routine with the ground crew that included eating dinner with a knife and fork off home plate.

"Baseball is competing with a lot of other things," said Kelly. "It needs something extra these days. It doesn't have to be clowning, but entertainment is needed."

Kelly gave Stengel the hotfoot during an exhibition contest between the Dodgers and the New York Yankees, the first game the clown worked at Ebbets Field. Stengel gave his approval to the stunt, pulled off while discussing ground rules with the umpires.

"There's absolutely a need for entertainment between doubleheader games," continues Kelly. "That's 25 minutes the fans have to sit there. And they like it brought to their seats, just like hot dogs.

"I think brass band music would go good while changing pitchers. I've always been partial to brass bands."

Kelly stopped by in San Francisco to offer his views in an interview, made while he applied makeup he invented in 1921. A television program was next on his schedule.

The famous clown spends his summers with his wife and two young daughters at Lake Tahoe on the California-Nevada state line. He works for Harrah's, entertaining people standing in line for the night club shows, children in the special recreation center and patrons of the gaming casino.

"I worked the last game in Brooklyn," said Kelly. "I saw grown men crying and all the women were weeping.

"I drove past where Ebbets Field was recently and I got a lonesome feeling I can't explain. I almost didn't recognize the spot because of the apartment buildings there now."

VESPER CREW DEFEATS HARVARD U. AT HENLEY

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — The Vesper Rowing Club of Philadelphia, winner of the Olympic gold medal last year, gave the Harvard varsity crew its first defeat of the year today in the first heat of the Grand Challenge Cup, top event of the Henley Royal Regatta.

The Vesper eight, improved by several newcomers in the boat since last year, won by two-thirds of a length over the one mile, 550 yards course. Vesper's time of 6:18 clipped five seconds off the record for the Henley course set last year by a Russian club.

Last American Is Eliminated At Wimbledon

JIM MURRAY

What Has 18 Eyes And Can't See?

"Hello, operator? Get me Buzzie Bavasi. What? Whom shall you say is calling? Better skip it, baby. Just tell 'im it ain't the tax collector. But don't give him any more hints.

"What? He's talking to his psychiatrist, Dr. Yes-And-No? I'll wait. ('Oh, we don't got a barrel o' money, maybe we're ragged and funny . . . tum-ta-ta-tum . . . but we're strolling along . . .')

"Hello, Buzzie? Buzzie, baby! This is Jim. Now, JUST A MINUTE, BUZZIE! I'm calling to help.

"Lissen, Buzzie. You know the stories going around about your team? You know, watching the Dodgers bat is like listening to a silent movie—listening to the Dodgers bat is like watching radio. Frank Finch has a whole collection of them. The Dodgers aren't Murderers Row, they're Murdered Row. Then, there's the riddle: How do you tell a Dodger from a Little Leaguer? The answer is, you can't. There is the suggestion that to speed up baseball they just have the Dodgers sign for three outs every inning and get on with it. What has 18 eyes and can't see? The Dodgers. The three most useless things in the world are a vacuum cleaner in the Arctic, a swim fin in the Sahara, and a bat held by a Dodger.

"BUZZIE, STOP sobbing! I know it's not funny! That's why I'm here.

"Lissen! Your club needs power. Right? O.K., I've got the answer. And believe me, I've checked this out carefully. Got a pencil? O.K., now Gil Hodges at Washington owes you a favor or two. Right? Now, Buzzie, copy this name down. They've got a guy over there I swear could hit a ball farther than any guy I've ever seen. A big guy. Can't throw the ball over his lip but, what the hell, you can't have everything.

"HIS NAME'S Frank Howard. Now put that down so's you'll remember it. He beat the Yanks the other day with a home run that hasn't come down yet. Buzzie, we NEED this guy! He's personally hit one-third as many home runs as your whole club. He might beat them out. He might beat Babe Ruth out.

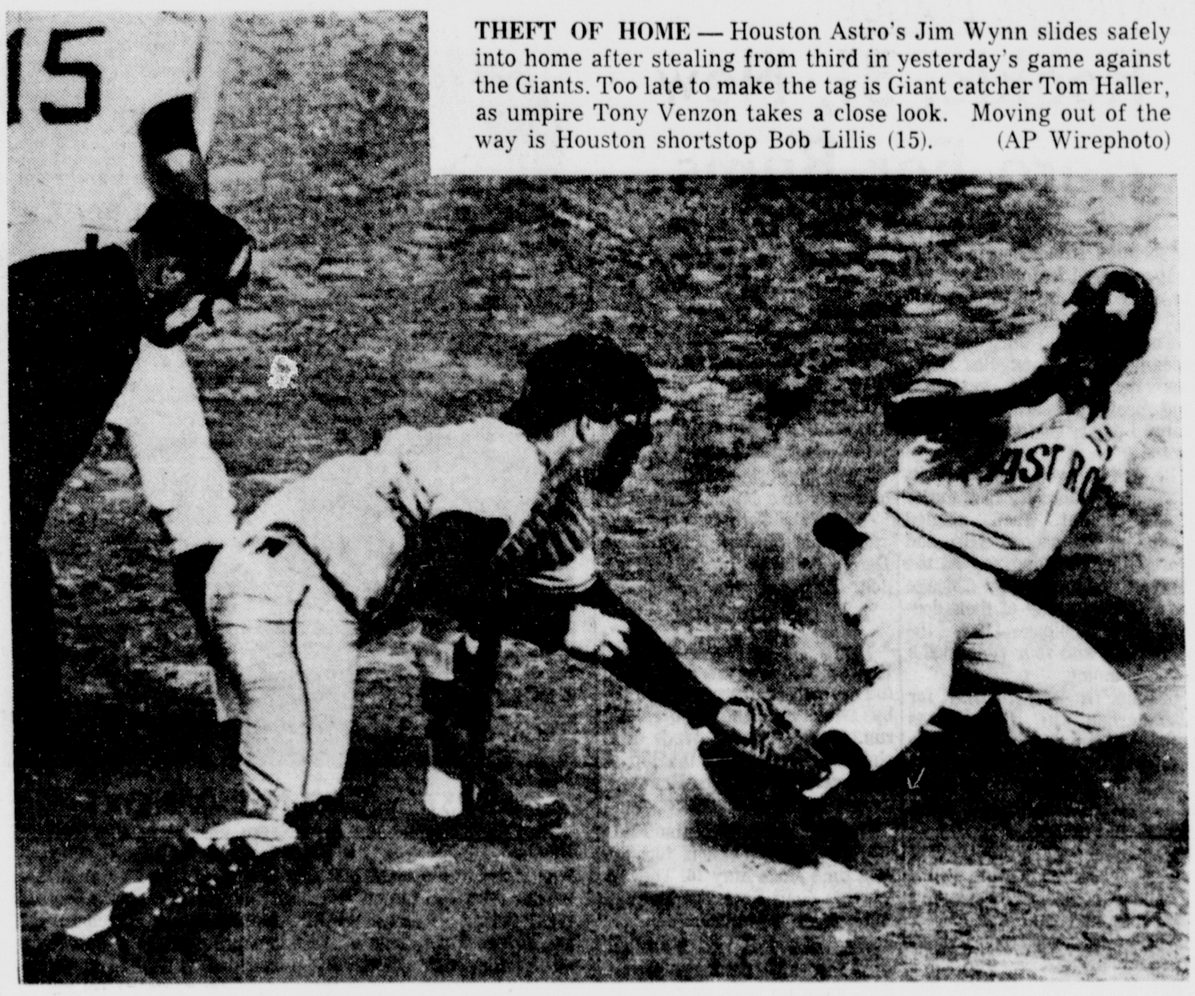
"Now, I've been looking over your roster. You got a pitcher named Osteen who's been having his troubles. I mean, he sometimes allows as many as one run a game. Now, ask yourself how he's going to win on your club with a bad habit like that?

"THEN, THERE'S your third baseman. The good glove man Kennedy. Buzzie, your club needs a good glove like a Hottentot needs an overcoat. What I had in mind was to see if you could con this guy Howard out of Washington with Osteen and Kennedy. Now, wait a minute. Before you think there's no chance, remember a Kennedy counts for something in Washington these days. A fellow might think twice before he curves one with a Kennedy at bat. And this fellow can hit a fast ball, can't he? Whaddaya mean, how would you know?

"BUZZIE, WHEN I tell you there are guys who hit home runs which go over fences on the fly, you'll think I'm kidding. Over in that other league they hit home runs where there's no play at the plate. I KNOW your team hits the fastest home runs in history. But you should have to put a tape measure on home runs, not a stop watch. I don't mind watching Willie Davis beat out a bunt. But to beat out a home run is ridiculous. Buzzie, Babe Ruth'd turn over in his grave if he heard a coach saying 'Son, you'll never be a home run hitter until you learn to SLIDE!"

"Buzzie, any time an outfield relay starts in one county and the cutoff man is in another and you have to learn geography to report a game, you're running a track meet, not a ball game. I know why you don't paint ads on the outfield fences. Nobody can see that far. The guys in the radio booth keep lookouts. They get reports on long line drives like they were election returns from New Hampshire.

"BUZZIE, NOW I'm just trying to be helpful! No need to take THAT attitude! Any time a team makes a home run obsolete, that's one thing. But to make a run obsolete. Well! Now, Buzzie, that name is Howard—H-O-W-A-R-D—and some nuts gave $108,000 for him when he was in college. So you KNOW you'll be getting a bargain. If you can get him for Osteen and Kennedy. They got a couple of good-looking kid pitchers there, too, you might get them to throw in for cash—Richert and Ortega. Buzzie, now, wait a minute, Buzzie, DON'T HANG UP, there's more . . . Buzzie? No, operator, we weren't cut off. How much is the call?"



THEFT OF HOME — Houston Astro's Jim Wynn slides safely into home after stealing from third in yesterday's game against the Giants. ASTROS DOWN GIANTS

A Demoralizing Setback

CHICAGO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants took the day off today, hoping the rest would help them maintain the pace that has brought them into third place in the National League only four games behind Los Angeles.

The Giants meet the Chicago Cubs tomorrow in the first of a three-game series here.

Chicago split a doubleheader with Los Angeles yesterday, thus helping San Francisco to stay even despite a demoralizing 6-4 loss to the Houston Astros in the confines of the Astrodome.

Giant starter Gaylord Perry was driven from the mound in the first inning after Astro leadoff hitter Joe Morgan blasted Perry's first pitch into the outfield stands for a home run.

Houston then proceeded to load the bases, and scored two more runs before Perry was replaced by Bob Bolin who put out the fire after allowing one more run.

San Francisco got its first score in the third when Dick Schofield singled to drive in Randy Hundley, whose single was his first major league hit.

Willie Mays singled with two out in the Giants eighth, and successive singles by Willie McCovey, Jim Hart and Jesus Alou brought in two runs as the Giants rallied.

Hart raced home with the tying run when Astro pitcher Claude Raymond let go a wild pitch.

But Houston came right back in the bottom of the eighth. The fourth Giant reliever, Frank Linzy, retired Walter Bond, gave up a single to Bob Aspromonte. Linzy got a full 3-2 count on Jim Wynn, who then fouled off four pitches before blasting a triple between Matty Alou and Willie Mays to score Aspromonte and put the Astros ahead 5-4.

Wynn scored the final Houston run by dashing home from third while Linzy was concentrating on pitching to Bob Lillis.

Linzy suffered the defeat, his first in three decisions.

Manager Herman Franks moved Willie Mays into right field in the eighth inning, explaining that the star center fielder has a slight groin injury and would be required to cover less ground in that position.

It was the first time Mays has played right. There was no indication from Franks whether he will repeat the experiment against the Cubs.

Brazilian Bueno Defeats Moffitt

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Maria Bueno of Brazil and Margaret Smith of Australia, last year's finalists, again reached the women's singles final of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships today.

Miss Bueno, the defending champion, defeated Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., the No. 5 women's seed, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 before a center court crowd of 16,000. Then Miss Smith trounced tall Christine Truman of Britain 6-4, 6-0.

It will be the fourth Wimbledon final for Miss Bueno and the third straight for Miss Smith. Maria won the title in 1959, 1960 and 1964. The Australian beat Miss Moffitt for the 1963 title but lost to Miss Bueno last year.

The men's singles final tomorrow also will be a repeat from 196 . Australia's Roy Emerson, the defending champion, will meet his countryman Fred Stolle, runner-up for the past two years.

In a match between two of the most renowned volleyers in women's tennis, Billie Jean set out to keep her opponent away from the net. She almost succeeded, driving deep and often lobbing effectively when Maria moved forward.

At first Miss Moffitt's volleying was off key and she was over-hitting the baseline. She won the first game on her own service, then Maria ran off five games in a row.

Billie Jean, regaining confidence, crept up to 4-5 but Miss Bueno held her service to take the set 6-4.

The American girl went to the net more eagerly as the second set began but she missed a couple of volleys in the third game and dropped service. She came back lobbying and volleying to take a 5-2 lead but Maria made some scorching service returns and drew even at 5-5.

The Brazilian girl fell heavily going after a volley in the 11th game and while she still was unsteady, Miss Moffitt smashed out a 7-5 victory.

Miss Bueno clearly established her superiority in the third set when she broke Miss Moffitt's service in the first game with two fine backhand returns. Maria took a 4-1 lead and Billie Jean pulled back to 3-4. In the last game Billie Jean was passed three times going to the net and trailed 0-40. She got up to deuce, saved four match points, then her volleying let her down.

Miss Smith took only 39 minutes to beat Miss Truman. Although she dropped the first two games and the partisan crowd cheered wildly for Christine, Margaret refused to get rattled.

With the score at 4-4, the faster Australian took the net behind her strong service and won the ninth game at love then finished off the set. In the second set Miss Truman managed to win only a handful of points as Miss Smith outclassed her in every respect.

Is Wilt Serious About Boxing? He'd Better Stick With Caging

NEW YORK (UPI)—A local wit may have summed up Wilt Chamberlain's latest crisis perfectly.

"How," he inquired, "can this guy hope to become a fighter when everytime you touch him he yells 'foul!'"

For a guy who is pulling down $70,000 a year from professional basketball, the moody 28-year-old Chamberlain doesn't seem to be too happy with his lot—to say the least.

He's unhappy on a number of counts.

First because people gawk at his height. Then because he can't show enough of his true individual ability merely by playing basketball for a living. And he's additionally unhappy because of a recent $750 fine plastered on him by president Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Assn. for authoring a magazine story which Kennedy considered detrimental to the league.

If the seven-foot, one-inch 280-pound Chamberlain is talking about becoming a heavyweight boxer simply to avoid paying the fine, which some suspect is the case, he certainly is taking the long way around the backcourt.

Wilt has threatened to quit pro basketball so often that nobody bothers counting anymore.

Upon hearing one of his previous threats to quit, one of the NBA's top stars was moved to comment:

"If he ever does quit, he'll become the tallest elevator opertor in the city of Philadelphia."

The report that Chamberlain was considering entry into the heavyweight ranks with an eye to challenging Cassius Clay for the title in a few years touched off an astonishing epidemic of muffled yawns at the headquarters of Madison Square Garden Boxing, Incorporated.

"We regard him," said Markson, "as one of the great basketball players of our time."

Every morning, it seems, Chamberlain wakes up with the notion he'd like to try something else. He was bitten by the football bug briefly a year ago.

Coach Hank Stram of the Kansas City Chiefs tossed him a few passes and came away raving.

"He'd be the greatest split end in pro football," said Stram. "He's very fast and he has terrific hands. Who would ever stop him:"

Before people become too carried away they should bear in mind that no athlete in history ever managed to master completely every sport he tried.

Chamberlain, at the moment, is taking one of his frequent stands. He apparently doesn't wish to pay that fine. It's not the money so much, he says, it's the principle.

They don't make "a line" on such things, but the odds are he'll turn heavyweight boxer the same time he pays that fine.

Like never.

A Decisive NFL Victory In Southeast

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Taking its first step into the eager Southeast, the National Football League awarded a franchise to an Atlanta businessman yesterday and then defeated the American Football League for playing rights to the city's new 58,000-seat stadium.

Atlanta's team will begin play in 1966.

Rankin M. Smith, 39, executive vice president of Life Insurance Co. of Georgia, was awarded the franchise for an estimated $9 million. Smith did not announce an exact figure.

The Atlanta Stadium Authority awarded Smith's entry playing rights to the stadium on a 10-year lease. Smith offered 10 per cent of the gross admissions while the AFL franchise holder, Cox Broadcasting Corp., offered eight per cent.

While gaining a decisive victory in Atlanta, the NFL also managed to keep its rival from obtaining playing rights to Philadelphia's planned $25 million stadium.

However, under a compromise agreement between the NFL Eagles and the city, the AFL obtained playing rights to the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field and could field a team there by 1967 when the new stadium will be completed.

Lamar Hunt, a member of the younger league's expansion committee, said he expected the league to delay a decision about moving into Philadelphia for a month or more because of the opposition of one or two owners.

"The league still wants to come to Philadelphia, but they want to take another look at it," Hunt said.

At New Orleans, promoter Dave Dixon said that he had received a query about possible AFL expansion to the Louisiana city in 1966.

Dixon, president of New Orleans Pro Football Club, Inc., announced he would meet today with AFL officials to discuss the possibility of placing a team in New Orleans.

Despite the announcement of AFL interest, Dixon said, "I think New Orleans should be the odds-on choice for the 16th NFL franchise." He said he assumed the AFL's tenative offer resulted from the NFL having squeezed the newer league out of Atlanta.

A spokesman for Cox Broadcasting had no comment about the New Orleans situation. However, J. Leonard Reinsch, company president, had indicated he would return his AFL franchise rather than take it to another city.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said, "I can only say that this is a great day for Atlanta. But more than for Atlanta, it is a great day for the National Football League."

The commissioner added, "Selecting an owner was a hard decision to make. Any of the leading candidates would have made a good one, but we selected Smith because of his strong Atlanta background and the fact he has lived here all his life."

Atlanta will be listed in the NFL's Eastern Division and will play each of the league's 14 other clubs during the 1966 season. The team will also have the league's first draft pick in 1965, an additional draft selection on each of the first five rounds, and will be stocked with experienced players from the other clubs.

RAMPAGING JAZY SETS NEW MARKS

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — Rampaging Michel Jazy of France, breaking world records at a fantastic clip, may go after his second gold medal in as many days in the World Games today.

Jazy, who broke two European records in winning the 5,000-meter run yesterday, is tentatively scheduled to go in the 1,500 meters today against a field that includes Jim Grelle and Dyrol Burleson of Oregon.

The 29-year-old Frenchman finished the 5,000 meters in 13:27.6, breaking his own pending European mark and beating Australia's Ron Clarke, the world record holder at the distance, and two American Olympic gold medal winners.

Clarke, who has the pending world mark of 13:25.8, finished third behind Kenya's Keine Kipchonge. U.S. Marine Billy Mills of Oceanside, Calif., the Olympic 10,000-meter champion, was eighth and Bob Schul of West Milton, Ohio, the 5,000-meter Olympic winner, was 10th.

En route, Jazy also broke his own European mark for three miles, hitting that distance in 13:04.8. The two marks went with a growing collection of records Jazy has harvested since June 3, including world marks at the mile, two miles and 3,000 meters.

Other Americans fared a bit better than Schul and Mills, winning two of three events they entered. Ralph Boston of Nashville won the broad jump at 25-8¼ and Otis Burrell of Los Ageles took the high jump at 6-9¼.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Rookie, 31, New Hero For Bums

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It took Don LeJohn 12 seasons to make the big time. He's acting as if he means to stay.

The 31-year-old third baseman became the Los Angeles Dodgers' newest rookie yesterday and promtly sparked the National League leaders to a victory.

LeJohn smacked a run-scoring single in his very first major league at-bat, then singled again in his second trip and scored the clinching run as the Dodgers nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3 for a split of their doubleheader. Chicago took the opener 4-1 with four runs in the seventh inning.

LeJohn, a player-coach for Albuquerque in the Texas League with a .391 batting average when he was called up, had been in the Dodgers' farm chain since 1954. He had about given up hope of the majors.

"I never thought I'd get called up," he said after his fine debut. "I thought I was dreaming when they told me I was joining the Dodgers. I just didn't think I'd make it."

But as of now, LeJohn has made it.

The split put the Dodgers two full games ahead of the Cincinnati Reds, who got whipped by the New York Mets 6-3. Elsewhere in the N.L.—Jim Wynn's triple and steal of home in the eighth inning led Houston over San Francisco 6-4; Philadelphia won its fourth straight, 3-2 over Milwaukee; and St. Louis clouted Pittsburgh 7-1, ending Vern Law's winning streak at eight straight.

CUB VICTORY

The Cubs took the opener against the Dodgers when Joe Amalfitano drove in two runs in the eighth with a pinch single and two more came across on Ron Fairly's muff of Glenn Beckert's fly. Dick Ellsworth boosted his record to 9-3 with a five-hitter, while Claude Osteen lost.

LeJohn batted in the first Dodger run in the second inning of the second game with a single, and scored the winner in the fourth against losing reliever Billy Hoeft.

He opened the inning with a single, got around to third on a sacrifice and an infield out, and broke a 3-3 tie on Wes Parker's double. Bob Miller replaced Dodger starter Nick Willhite in the first and went the rest of the way.

The Mets beat the Reds on the hitting of Ed Kranepool, Roy McMillan and Chuck Hiller, plus the stout relief pitching of Gary Kroll. Kranepool homered, doubled and had a sacrifice fly for three runs-batted-in, while McMillan and Hiller collected three hits each and accounted for the three other Met RBI.

Kroll gave Cincinnati only two hits over five innings after taking over for Tom Parsons, who yielded a three-run homer to Deron Johnson in the fourth. Joh Tsitouris was the losing

DECISIVE HIT

Tony Taylor collected the Phillies' decisive hit, a single in the seventh that brought in Bobby Wine with the tie-breaking run. Losing pitcher Wade Blasingame homered in the top of the seventh, giving the Braves a temporary 2-2 deadlock.

The victory pushed the Phils into the first division for the first time since May 18. They're fourth, just one percentage point under Milwaukee.

Law, who had won his eight in a row after losing his first five, gave up only four hits to the Cardinals in his eight innings. But they touched him for two runs in the fifth and made it a rout with five more in the ninth off Al McBean and Frank Carpin.

FIRST NEGRO NFL OFFICIAL

Burl Toler, to be the first Negro official in the National Football League, reads the rule book to his son, Gregory, 3, who hopes to play ball just like Daddy. Toler, 37, was a linebacker with the famed University of San Francisco football team during the days of Ollie Matson, Gino Marchetti and Ed Brown. Toler, now an assistant principal at a San Francisco junior high school will be assigned as a head linesman. (UPI Telephoto)

Senators Deplore AAU-NCAA Strife

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Daniel Brewster, D-Md., deploring the Gerry Lindgren affair, have raised the possibility of Congressional intervention in the continuing feud between the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union.

Lindgren, a Washington State University freshman, defied an NCAA ban last weekend by competing in the National AAU Championships at San Diego, possibly risking his collegiate track career.

Kennedy attacked what he called the "silly and destructive dispute" between the two sports groups yesterday and added:

"There have been suggestions," Kennedy added, "that the way out of this is for the government to establish a sports organization.

"I have some reservations about this, but I certainly think that as time goes by and the NCAA-AAU dispute deepens to the point where a boy like Gerry Lindgren may be penalized for wishing to represent his country against the Soviet Union, then I think that perhaps the time is here for the Congress to look into this alternative very closely."

The U.S. team for the annual track meet against the Soviet Union was chosen as a result of performances in the AAU meet. Lindgren qualified for the team by finishing second to Olympic champion Billy Mills in the six-mile run as both broke the world record.

Brewster called the feud between the two groups "a national disgrace." He said in a Senate speech that "if the two organizations cannot resolve their dispute soon, then the American people will demand that Congress take appropriate action."

Another Senator, Democrat Henry M. Jackson of Lindgren's home state of Washington, said "that both the NCAA and the AAU must meet and negotiate their differences so that young men such as Gerry Lindgren can utilize their talents in world competition without sanction."

Jackson said, "I cannot believe that Gerry Lindgren will be penalized in his collegiate athletic career because of his participating with our American team abroad."

Treemen Divide Softball Tilts

Sohner Tree Service softballers split a doubleheader with the Hamilton Air Force Base team yesterday at Hamilton, losing the first game 5-2 and coming back in the second one, 8-1.

Hamilton scored all five of its runs in the first game during the fourth inning off losing pitcher Morey Swarm. Sohner bats exploded for eight runs off four HAFB pitchers in the nightcap. Ed Schultze and Dan George led the Sohner attack with a double and single each. Gary Swarm, Morey's brother, was the winning pitcher.

Keeping State Stocked With Trout Is Big Job

By JERRY HARRELL
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP)—How do you keep enough trout in the water for a million fishermen?

Alex Calhoun, the man who has the job for the State Fish and Game Department, says it isn't easy.

Calhoun, chief of inland fisheries, has the added problem of providing a program that strikes a middle ground between the purist who wants only wild trout and the city dweller who wants more trout planted in accessible streams in "catchable" sizes.

He notes that the trout has been the most popular game fish through the years and is likely to remain so. There are about 900,000 anglers who seek trout each year, not counting the 100,000 or so youngsters under 16 who don't need licenses.

Fishing the 18,000 miles of trout streams and 3,500 lakes with about 250,000 surface acres, they catch about 20 million fish a year.

"Most of this angling depends on the department's trout program one way or another," says Calhoun. "It is substantial, costing about $2.2 million annually . . . "

The heart of the program is management, which Calhoun says might more accurately be called "fish farming."

This includes planting seven million "catchable" trout of seven or eight inches in size in accessible lakes and streams each year. This phase, the most costly and controversial, provides angling in 355 streams totaling 1,279 miles and 196 lakes with about 30,000 surface acres.

Field biologists for the department also must take advantage of chances to grow "wild" or semi-wild trout in lakes and streams.

Not much can be done for the streams, except to protect them from damage and help establish the best species of trout.

But lakes must be studied and managed carefully to cut costs and produce better fish by matching trout to water and planting the less costly fingerlings instead of expensive grown fish.

The lakes are numerous and diverse. Large infertile waters like Lake Tahoe produce two or three pounds of fish to the acre, while Frenchman Reservoir in Plumas County provides 100 pounds per acre.

Calhoun estimates the annual "wild" trout catch, including fish planted as fingerlings, accounts for about half of all those caught.

Trout are produced in 13 state hatcheries. The Department of Fish and Game plants some 15 million fingerlings each year as well as the seven million catchables.

Research projects are under way to cut costs and improve angling at lakes through better knowledge of the waters' productivity, most suitable species of trout and the best time to plant.

Calhoun notes that in 1935 there were 300,000 trout fishermen in California. They relied mostly on native wild fish.

By 1980 there will be 1½ million, relying more and more on planted fish.

The amount of trout water will increase sharply, too, as more reservoirs come into existence.

To meet the demands, the department plans to build two big new hatcheries, enlarge one of the existing ones and streamline and enlarge another.

Production of fingerlings will go up by 5.6 million a year and catchable by two million fish. Production costs will rise only about 6½ per cent, however, because of lower operating costs in the more modern hatcheries.

Young Tiburon Swimmers Win League Meet

Defending champion Tiburon Peninsula Club swimmers swamped the Strawberry Swim Team 223-92 in their first Marin Swim League meet of the season last Saturday at Strawberry.

Laurie James and Linda Locati were triple winners for Tiburon and Debbie Davis picked up three first places for Strawberry. Double winners were Chargy Johnstone, Mary Keller and Quentin Bassett, all of Tiburon.

The next meet will be Strawberry vs. Las Gallinas Aquatic Club July 8, with Tiburon trying for two straight, this time against Marinwood, July 10.

Youngsters 2nd To Santa Clara

San Rafael Swim Club's 9-10 girls 100 freestyle and 100 medley relay team members Jo Ann Hislop, Kim Knutson, Cookie Arrighi and Katie Parnow finished second to Santa Clara last Sunday at the San Leandro Relays that attracted more than 500 relay teams from the Bay Area.

The girls 9-10 "B" medley relay team of Linda Nederman, Marilyn Nederman, Laura Listug and Tami McDuffie placed sixth, as did the boys 9-10 100 free relay team of Bob Vandergriff, Jim Runyon, Mike Kamler and Gary Walraven.

Record Week For Marin Pirates

The Marin Pirates Swim Team finished second to the Santa Rosa Neptunes, 149 points to 183, in the fourth annual Santa Rosa Neptunes Relays last Saturday.

The Pirates teamed up to set new pool records in five events. Pirates set records in the girls 13-14 200-yard medley relay, boys 15-17 200 medley relay, mixed 15-17 200 backstroke relay, boys 11-12 200 free relay and girls 13-14 200 free relay.

The FISHIN' FOOL

It's Possible That Fast Salmon Fishing Is Right Around Corner

STEVENS

Here today, and gone tomorrow about sums up the salmon trolling picture. Saturday and Sunday of the past week were "Slim Pickin's" but on Monday a new school seems to have been located southwest of the Farallones. Not many boats were on the job, but the Lee Anderson Shop in Oakland reported the boat Chinook netting 10 salmon to 22 pounds for its five rods. Reports have it that the comparatively few boats working the area averaged 10 or more fish. Could be that some fast salmon fishing is just around the corner. Here's hoping!

SOME HEFTY striped bass have fallen to trollers using live bait in the area of the south tower of the G.G. Bridge, by the Rock Pile and Racoon Strait. I note that the Duke No. 2 took four limits to 25 pounds off the Rockpile and several of the S.F. boats made the grade.

Considering that we have had a series of minus tides, we should hear of some fast action in the south bay region. Which brings to mind a query from one of my readers. "How come you predict good fishing in the San Francisco area on minus tides, when you report little or no striper fishing in the San Pablo Bay?" was his lament. I find an answer to that question hard to satisfy. I only know that during a series of minus tides bait fishing in all sections of the Upper San Pablo Bay is very, very slow. I have made that statement many times during the past 25 years, and I can't explain it.

I REFER TO my records covering the past quarter of a century, and it has invariably happened. Minus tides activate fishing in the S.F. and South Bay regions, and slow up bait fishing to a slow walk in San Pablo Bay. Please note I say BAIT FISHING, not trolling. Trolling in the Upper San Pablo Bay frequently is very good during low tides. In fact it is good right now in the upper bay. For example, Johnny Sivers, piloting the Happy Days out of Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor, boated 20 very nice stripers to 18 pounds on Sunday, and on Monday accounted for two sturgeons and 10 bass to 15 pounds. The Dowrelio No. 6 had 10 bass and two sturgeons, I understand. The average fish per rod (bass was a healthy two.

APPARENTLY PRODUCTION is still very slow in the Alameda Estuary region, according to a report from the Fruitvale Bait Shop. Ditto bait fishing out of China Camp. However, the lads and lassies who used artificials in the Brothers-Sisters sector seem to have done well.

For the first time in many moons a bulletin from Stagnaro's Santa Cruz spot came in. Not very exciting as far as salmon are concerned. "Slow and spotty," said the report. But limits of rockfish and ling cods to 32 pounds have been taken. There has been a schedule change on the New Year Island trip. It is now operating Wednesdays, Saturdays and Sundays. Some black cod to 14 pounds have been landed on the local Deep Sea fishing trips. And that's it for today.

Five Girls Vie For Woodacre Festival Crown

Woodacre's annual old fashioned Fourth of July fair will take on a youthful flair this year when the San Geronimo Valley Teen Club takes charge of the proceedings.

Five Valley Club girls are running for the title of "Miss Independence Day." They are: Ruth Pederson, Patty Bohman and Linda Brown, all of Woodacre; Carol Wagner of Lagunitas; and Carolyn Morgan of Forest Knolls.

The festival will open with an 8:30 a.m. Cub Scout breakfast; followed by a little league baseball game at 10 a.m.; and a swim meet, for all age groups, at 12:30 p.m.

Booths will open at 1:30 p.m. featuring such concessions as a pony ride and caravan ride for youngsters.

The Woodacre Improvement Club Players will present three performances of an old fashioned mellodrama, "Villian's Last Stand," at 2, 4, and 6 p.m.

Other activities will include a father-son softball game, and 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. chicken barbecues. Drawing for the stereo and naming of the queen will take place at 8:30 p.m. and will be followed by a fireworks display and a dance.

Assisting the youths in the production of the fair will be the Woodacre Improvement Club.

Nuts Really Peas?

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) —Peanuts are not really nuts, they are legumes, according to the University of Georgia extension service. They belong to the pea and bean family, the service said, and Georgia growers produced 806 million pounds of them last year.

Poet Anti-Class

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — When the late poet Robert Frost was teaching at Amherst College, he regarded his college classes as a student does — that is, he cut them when he could and made a point of always being four minutes late.

"Why do we have classes anyway?" he once remarked.

Boot Camp Relic

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (UPI) — When army engineers moved in to begin preparing this North Idaho site for the International Senior Girl Scourt Roundup the only trace of the World War II Farragut Naval Training Station was the former brig. It will be one of the few non-tent structures in the camp for 10,000 Scouts and staff.

Those Indians Had A Phrase For It

BOISE, Idaho (UPI) — The name of this northwest state comes from an Indian word, "E-Da-How," meaning "Behold, the sun comes down from the mountains."

Idaho's state flower, the Syringa, a shrub producing bright white and cream flowers, also carries a colorful subtitle — "Mock Orange."

Tourists Limited On This Island

ATHENS (AP) — The uninhabited island of Delos, a power in the Aegean during the golden age of ancient Greece, has accommodations for tourists—but only three at a time.

The three-mile-long island has a shelter with one single room and one double room for tourists staying overnight on visits to the island's archaeological sites.

Old Ferry Fading

JAMESTOWN, R.I. (UPI) — The Jamestown-Newport ferry, probably the oldest continuously operated ferry in North America, is expected to go out of business when a new $42 million bridge over Narragansett Bay is opened for traffic in 1968. The ferry has been serving passengers for nearly 300 years.

Accommodating Tree

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — The variety of crabapple trees is so wide, says the University of Georgia extension service, that is possible to find a tree to fit almost any landscape need.

The trees range from 10 to 40 feet high and vary in shape from low spreading to weeping and pyramidal.

Heidi Hickingbotham A Bride

Garlands of Southern smilax and tall white tapers decorated the arch colonnades of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael yesterday when Heidi Dollar Hickingbotham and Dr. Robert Todd Cary exchanged nuptial vows before a white brocade altar banked with white Alba lilies and hydrangeas.

THE BRIDE, who made her debut in the 1961 Cotillion, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cameron Hickingbotham Jr. of San Rafael, and granddaughter of Mrs. R. Stanley Dollar of Piedmont and the late Mr. Dollar and the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Hickingbotham. She is the great granddaughter of the late Capt. Robert Dollar, the dean of Pacific shipping, and the late Mrs. Dollar.

ESCORTED down the aisle, marked by candle standards trimmed with gypsophelia and smilax, by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white silk organza fashioned with heirloom lace on the sleeves. The bell skirt extended into a cathedral train. Heidi carried a trailing bouquet of lilies of the valley.

PRECEDING the bride to the altar in full length gowns of white linen accented with inserts of green linen extending from the waist and caught with a bow in the back were Isabel Whitehead of Savannah, Ga., as maid of honor, and bridesmaids, Pamela Taylor and Virginia McKee of Hillsborough, Barbara Heater of Dayton, Ill., Katherine Hammond of Berkeley and the bride's cousins, Debbie Dollar of San Francisco and Licia Hayden of Ross. They carried Victorian white wicker baskets filled with white Marguerite daisies, blue bachelor buttons and touches of miniature ivy.

DR. JOHN P. CONOLLY of San Jose served the bridegroom as best man, and ushering were Dr. William Odom of Hillsborough, the bride's brother, Joseph C. Hickingbotham III of San Rafael; Dr. Roger P. Boero of San Rafael and John Allen III of Greenbrae; Jack Clumeck of San Francisco and Ben Dibblee of Ross.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hickingbotham wore an ankle length gown in pink and white check with a short matching jacket.

A RECEPTION followed the ceremony in the garden of the Hickingbotham home. Arrangements of white lilies, white petunias, agapanthus and ferns formed the background of the spacious garden, and the steps leading to the veranda were marked by two large white urns of hydrangeas. Five hundred guests attended the reception.

THE BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cary of Ross, was graduated from Stanford University and the College of Physicians and Surgeons in San Francisco. He is the brother of Mrs. Richard Towne Tully and Keith Cary and the grandson of Mrs. Robert A. Carey of Ross and the late Mr. Carey and Mrs. Andrew Archanbault of Ross and the late Mr. Archenbault.

Following a six weeks wedding trip in Europe, the newlyweds will reside in San Rafael.

ON THEIR WAY to the church are Heidi and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cameron Hickingbotham Jr. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hickingbotham chose a pink and white check gown with matching jacket and hat.

THE NEWLYWEDS pause on the church steps before departing for the reception. Following a six weeks wedding trip in Europe, the couple will make their home in San Rafael, where Dr. Cary will practice medicine.

THE RECEPTION line was formed against a setting of redwood trees in the Hickingbotham garden. Two large urns of white hydrangeas marked the entrance to the veranda. The wedding cake, outside the front foyer, was flanked with silver bowls of white roses, bouvardia and lilies of the valley. White daisies and fern frounds decorated the Victorian mantels in the house.

Michael Hogan Claims Bride In Santa Maria Ceremony

Michael Timothy Hogan, son of Dr. and Mrs. Michael J. Hogan of Mill Valley, claimed Kathleen Diane Rutter as his bride on Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church in Santa Maria.

Kathleen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Rutter of Santa Maria, was given in marriage by her father in the double ring candlelight ceremony performed at 8 p.m. by the Rev. William Anteblin.

She recited her vows wearing a full length gown of white satin with a train. Her attendants were attired in full length empire style gowns of pink crepe.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Tom Robinson of Wichita, Kan., and bridesmaids were the bridegroom's two sisters, Judy and Shelley Hogan of Mill Valley, and Linda Barsanti of San Luis Obispo.

Best man was Robert Chase and ushers were the bride's brothers, Paul Rutter of Mountain View and Tom Rutter of Santa Maria, and John Meek Jr., Kenneth Leathers, Charles Gibbons and Daryle Van Dyke Houdyshell.

All except the bride's brothers were students at California Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo, from which Kathleen was graduated in June and Michael will be graduated next year.

Collins-Carrillo Rite Is Held In Sausalito

The First Presbyterian Church of Sausalito was the setting for the marriage Sunday of Katherine Marie Carrillo and Thomas Rodger Collins.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Carrillo of Strawberry, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Collins of Walnut Creek.

Best man was William Jambois of Novato, and ushering were Edward Nealon and Richard Caudell of Novato and Ray O'Day of Corte Madera.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Sausalito Woman's Club. On their return from a honeymoon in Yosemite the newlyweds will live in Strawberry.

Thomas was graduated from high school in Pleasant Hill and served with the U.S. Army in Germany.

NOT READY TO DRAIN

Workmen for the Yegge Construction Co. of Los Gatos, building a drainage culvert on DuBois Street near Woodland Avenue for the City of San Rafael, put the horse before the cart Tuesday afternoon. Their ditch digging undermined this water main, spraying water into the not-yet-drainable culvert. About 20 homes were without water for a half hour, according to Hector P. Puccinelli, superintendent of construction for the Marin Municipal Water District. The water main was scheduled to be moved anyway, he said.

Rent Supplement Plan Squeaks Through House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A housing bill containing a modified version of President Johnson's rent supplement plan headed for comparatively easy going in the Senate today after one of the closest votes in the House on any Johnson administration proposal.

The controversial portion of the $5.3-billion measure — the provision for subsidizing rent of low income families — survived a 208-202 vote in the House Wednesday only after the Democrats handling it had drastically modified it from the original administration conception of a program for families above the actual needy level.

As the House finally passed it, on a 245-169 roll call vote, the bill closely resembles legislation already approved by the Senate Banking Committee. The Senate version carries a somewhat higher price tag, but estimates of the ultimate cost of a four-year program embracing grants, loans and loan guarantees are imprecise.

Under the House bill, $150 million would be provided over the next four years for rent supplements to families who could qualify for — but do not live in — low cost public housing. Regulations on income ceilings for families qualifying for such public housing now vary from city to city.

The help would go only to the needy whose rent exceeds 25 per cent of the family income and who live in housing owned by nonprofit or limited dividend organizations. None of the supplements would go to tenants of private landlords.

Problems Seen For New Planning Group

There are some "practical problems" in formation of a North Marin Planning Commission as proposed to the Novato City Council last week, County Planning Director B. D. Dobbs said today.

He did not outline the problems, but declared the need for better representation might be worked out through closer cooperation between county and Novato planning departments.

Novato Planning Director Robert Lagle told his city council that he hopes to make a proposal on the area commission before the end of the year.

He said the commission would consider planning matters both within and without the city boundaries. The present city staff and commission would continue to function. The area commission would draw on both city and county staffs.

Formation of area commissions is provided for in the state code, Lagle said. He believes the commission could be created through a joint resolution by the board of supervisors and the city council.

Dobbs said the move would probably have to have the blessing of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, which passes on creation of new districts.

Going Overseas

Army Sp/4 William P. Griffin of 136 Blackstone Drive, Marinwood, will leave this week for an unannounced overseas assignment. He has been home on leave after 18 months at Fort Hood, Tex.

Postage-Due Poodle Finds Herself In Mink Outfit

By JEFF GREER

The case of the Postage-due Poodle has had a happy ending — one to warm the cockles of any female's heart.

The Postage - due Poodle is Heugi, a champagne-colored toy poodle belonging to Myron and Sarrae Zwang, proprietors of a downtown San Rafael women's wear store. Like most girls, Heugi doesn't talk about her age, but Myron divulges that she is just one year old.

Her troubles all started last week, when Heugi accompanied her master outside the store to mail some packages. Since it was but a brief outing, she rode in his arms, sans leash.

As Zwang opened the trap door of the big mailbox at Fourth and A streets to drop in the packages, alors!

Heugi hopped into the chute too, apparently thinking she could help.

Her petite three pounds was too much — it swung the drop door shut.

There was Heugi inside—with all those mails.

She was freed from her dark prison only after postal authorities were rounded up to provide a key. At that, Heugi was lucky, as anyone knows who has tried to retrieve a letter inadvertantly mailed before it was finished.

But as to the happy ending . . . A furrier, who had been making a new coat for Mrs. Zwang, heard about the Postage - due Poodle, and sent her a combination birthday present and outfit eminently suitable for any girl who's out with the mails.

20th Anniversary Fair Should Be Record-Breaker

If you passed by the Art and Garden Center in Ross during the past week, you are aware that preparations for the annual Marin Art and Garden Fair were proceeding feverishly, at all hours.

The fair opens this evening and runs through Monday.

Advance notices indicate this 20th anniversary fair will be a worthy successor to its 19 predecessors.

A 1900s Fashion show, an organ grinder and his monkey, Uncle Sam on stilts, barbershop quartettes and square dancers and folk dancers in colorful costume all sustain the Summertime—1900 theme.

The prize-winning Terra Linda High School band will play concerts Saturday and Sunday, there will be daily organ concerts and the Marin Civic Ballet will perform on the closing night.

League of Women Voters will demonstrate a voting machine proposed for use in Marin County.

Children accompanied by adults will be admitted free again this year and a free shuttle bus will operate between parking areas and the main gate.

If the weatherman will oblige with the same warm weather provided for the early part of the week, attendance at the fair should set new records.

See you there.

Hail, Mighty Caesar

This month of July gets its name from Julius Caesar, perhaps the most intelligent and sophisticated of ancient rulers. Contrary to the movies, the games he played with Cleopatra were not for love, but for empire. He was an artful, knowledgable man of many sides, but he had a one track mind where empire was concerned.

Each July, knowingly or not, we pay tribute to this remarkable man, who by wit, military prowess and statesmanship moulded the Roman Empire. Some said he was a tyrant. But almost all agreed he was magnificent.

'NO, NO—THAT GOES TO THE TAX DEPARTMENT'

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Economy Of U.S. Is Healthy, And Should Be For Long Time

WASHINGTON — Nothing is more vital to everything the U. S. is trying to do in the world—at home and abroad—than the state of the economy.

THE MARKET has had its scare. It still may be a little jittery. But the truth is that the state of the economy is good, the outlook is for more of the same as far ahead as one can reasonably see and no one, including Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin, sees a recession around the corner.

This isn't just a Lyndon Johnson pep-talk, although the president has been saying as much at recent press conferences. This appraisal comes from looking at the objective facts. It is an appraisal shared by most private economists. It reflects a pervasive confidence on the part of the whole business community.

THERE ARE REASONS why the business community is not nervous about the future even if the market has been having some nervous vibrations. Among them are these:

Federal revenue is going up, federal spending is going down and the budget is getting nearer to balance.

GOVERNMENT spending will be $900 million below the estimate made six months ago.

This combination of an increase in revenue or of lower tax rates and a decline in spending means that the federal deficit at the end of this month will reach a five-year low.

THERE HAS BEEN sustained prosperity and sustained economic growth for the longest period in American history—and nothing to the contrary is on the horizon.

Treasury Secretary Henry Fowler sees a steady upward trend in business activity for the rest of 1965—and beyond. Though disagreeing on some things, the liberal chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, Gardner Ackley, and the conservative chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William Martin, share the view that no recession is in the making.

Martin's Columbia University speech did not start the downturn in the market. It had already begun. His speech, with its warnings against inflation and the still unresolved balance-of-payments gap, undoubtedly gave it a further push—more of a push than he intended because his warnings were played so much more prominently than his assurances.

BASICALLY, the warnings were well-taken and timely. But the dissimilarities between now and 1929 are far greater than the similarities—and Mr. Martin said so. Few read his speech in full.

California Can't Hold A Candle To Government In Spending

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — When it comes to spending money in a grand manner, without too much regard to where it goes, the California Legislature and even Gov. Edmund G. Brown can't hold a candle to the federal government.

This was apparent in a recent announcement by Brown and R. Sargent Shriver, head of the anti-poverty war, that the latter would take over operation of the state's pioneering youth conservation camp in San Bernardino County.

Shriver said the federal government would spend $650,000 for capital investment and operations during the first year of the camp. He said also that a study will be made to increase the capacity of the camp to 200 youths between the ages of 16 and 21.

AS FAR AS California goes, this will save the taxpayers about $400,000 a year. Of course, Californians are paying at least their share of the taxes that finance the federal government, so no one really is getting anything free.

The conservation camp was set up in a former State Division of Forestry installation in San Bernardino County, as a pilot program in 1963. Last year, the State Department of Conservation came before the Legislature and asked for more money so as to enlarge the camp operation.

However, at that time, it developed that there was a rather poor showing of the camp so far in being able to retain the young men and teen-agers. They signed up for six-month hitches at the conservation camp but there was nothing compulsory about their remaining.

In the first full year of operation at the camp, a total of 357 youths were enrolled. Of this total, 98 actually stayed with the program for the full six months. Another 180 dropped out before completing six months, and the other 83 still were at the camp by the end of 1964.

A FOLLOW-UP STUDY of the boys who were at the camp showed that 61 of those who had completed six months were employed, in the military service or in school. Of the 180 who dropped out, 86 were employed or in school.

As a result, a Senate interim committee considering the operation said it didn't appear to be justified to enlarge a program that had not made too brilliant a showing in its pilot stage.

With the inclusion of the conservation camp in the Job Corps and anti-poverty program, however, attempts at economy and concern over whether the young men are improved by the experience may be less important.

It must be discouraging to California lawmakers when they make attempts at economy — from time to time — to have the federal government move in and erase the progress. This is true even if the money involved is federal money.

THERE'S THE OLD case of the California Disaster Office, known in former days as the Office of Civil Defense. This was operated as a branch of the governor's office and there were several hundred employees, with no one quite sure what they were doing.

Some years ago, the Legislature made some economy moves with the disaster office, chopping off quite a bit of the staff. The cuts were made and the office continued to operate about the same, with no one again quite sure what was being accomplished.

But then along came the federal government. It said that, if a merit system for the employees was installed, the federal government would pick up about half the tab for the payroll. This system was adopted, the federal government began paying half the salaries, and the size of the operation promptly went back up to where it had been, if not higher.

AND, EVEN NOW, you can ask most anyone around state government about what's being done at the CDO and it's doubtful if they'll be able to tell you.

Humphrey Replies To LBJ Cartoon

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The cartoon of Johnson shooting holes in the Nation's Economy (metal bucket and pumping it full of water) appealed to me and I sent it to Hubert H. Humphrey and asked if he had any comments.

Dear Mr. Quigley:

Thank you for your recent message.

I am always pleased to learn the opinion of concerned citizens on the important issues before our nation.

You may be sure that your viewpoint will receive consideration.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,
(sig) Hubert H. Humphrey

Reporter In South Defended By Reader

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I suspect that Mr. William Forrest lacks whatever is needed to make an identification other than as a "subscriber."

Not knowing whether Mr. Forrest has children, I only suggest broadly that, like other parents who have children in Mississippi, I know what mine are doing—and why.

I saw Bob Coppock once—as he was preparing to leave for the South. Despite his preoccupation with his own preparations, he was solicitous of the welfare of my wife, who had just had an accident — inquired about our daughter and some of the other kids in Mississippi—and made no major point of his own involvement. Mr. Forrest might take a lesson in behavior from the man he condemns to Mississippi jails, where there is a government of bigoted men, not one of enlightenment and law.

Show Flag On Fourth Of July

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Wouldn't a timely editorial by you in re showing the American flag on July 4 be appropriate?

Are we disinterested — or perhaps ashamed to flaunt our patriotism via showing the flag? Or is patriotism passe?

Talented Group Give Pleasure

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Last Thursday night (June 24), I was invited to see the Green Room Players present their first show.

I don't know when I have enjoyed myself more. I am sure the young people in the show had as much fun putting on the program as the audience did watching them.

Your area is very fortunate in having this talented group in your midst. I hope they will present many more programs, and will have the backing of your entire area.

I hope they all keep up this excellent group.

Teacher Salaries Seem Pretty Good

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your publication of teachers' salaries has been a great public service as well as a shocking eye-opener. While some individual salaries may be low, and while there may be some inequities, most of the salaries are surprisingly high. I don't think superintendents of grammar school districts need feel short-changed at $17,000 to $18,000, or grammar school principals at $13,000 to $14,000, or high school teachers of English at $11,000 to $12,000.

One of the latter group pointed out that he, or at least some of his group, had 13 years of experience and a master's degree which took him six years of college (although normally it requires only five). This would put him at age 34 or so. Not bad for nine months' work. And this 13 years makes him virtually un-fireable, if that's good English, regardless of his talent. Or lack of it.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

DR. HERBERT Richards, famous minister of the Boise (Idaho) Methodist Cathedral, tells about the man who ordered a crate of chickens from a farmer nearby. When the farmer delivered the chickens, nobody was home, so he left the crate on the front porch — with the lid open. Chickens buzzed off in every direction, and when the buyer returned home, he had to comb the town to retrieve his purchase. When he had collected his wandering chicks, he phoned the farmer to complain. "That was one dumb way to deliver chickens: after searching everywhere I could only round up 16." "Well, you didn't do too badly," answered the farmer. "I only delivered eight."

"THERE'S ONE thing about taking dictation from my boss," sighed Mr. Sideman's secretary, "You have to take a lot for grunted."

'Deliver' Guatemala, Guevara Is Ordered

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Ernesto (Che) Guevara, top Communist lieutenant of Cuban dictator Fidel Castro, is at another turning point in his revolutionary career.

He must either produce a successful Communist takeover in Guatemala or face the same fate as that of ousted Algerian Premier Ben Bella, who intelligence now believes lost his job for fouling up the Kremlin's attempt to depose the Congo's Premier Moise Tshombe.

Guevara's "final chance" was decreed by Soviet leaders when the guerrilla warfare expert failed to pull off Communist take-overs in the Dominican Republic and Brazil.

ACCORDING TO latest intelligence estimates, Guevara is back in Havana after a covert trip to the mountain region of Guatemala, where he met with local Communist guerrilla leaders to map plans for a step-up in their attacks.

The one-time Argentine physician and close henchman of Castro was given the Guatemalan mission by Sergei Mikoyan, son of Anastas I. Mikoyan, Soviet chief of state, who brought the orders from Moscow when he visited Havana earlier this month.

Mikoyan met with Guevara, Castro and a six-man delegation of the Italian Communist Party, which now has a major role in subverting Latin America.

THE ITALIAN GROUP was led by Mario Alicate, member of his party's secretariat and national directorate, and editor-in-chief of the Italian Communist Party organ L'Unita of Rome.

Information obtained by U.S. intelligence in Rome indicated that Mikoyan warned Guevara the Guatemala operation would be his last if he failed. He instructed Guevara to give up his post as Cuba's industry minister and devote full time to his new assignment.

Guatemala is not a new battleground for Guevara. He served in President Jacobo Arbenz' pro-Communist regime in 1953 until Guatemalan Col. Carlos Castillo Armas launched a successful counter-revolution.

ALTHOUGH Guevara dashed around Guatemala City trying to organize a resistance force, Arbenz capitulated without a fight. Guevara then fled to the Argentine embassy, vowing to return some day.

Since Guevara was one of 81 men who accompanied Castro on his 1956 invasion of Cuba, U. S. intelligence wouldn't be surprised if the Argentine-born Communist has set up a permanent headquarters inside Guatemala.

At present, he is directing shipments of arms and trained guerrilla fighters from Cuba to the Caribbean trouble spot, as he did to the Dominican Republic.

UNLESS SWIFT preventive action is taken jointly by the U. S. and Guatemala, intelligence authorities warn, the U. S. will have to send in Marines to block a Communist take-over before winter.

Since Castro took over control in Cuba in 1959, Che has taken a series of crucial steps. He cut Cuba's principal economic ties with the West and hooked them to the Communist world. He arranged the deals to build up Cuba's defenses with Soviet arms, and directed Cuba's revolutionary activities in Latin America.

Because of Guatemala's strategic location and the Kremlin's ultimatum, Guevara's latest assignment could easily become the most ominous for the West—and himself.

CIA DIRECTOR William Raborn is looking for a new "press officer." He launched the hunt after a national TV network presented a very critical show of the super-secret intelligence agency. His former press adviser had arranged to have several CIA officials cooperate with the network.

Never-Never Land Of Tonypandy Can Give Columnist Headache

MY DINNER partner was attractive and her sentiments noble, and I, rarely asked out, was on my very best behavior—but I fear we didn't hit it off too well. After all, she lives in the rarefied suburb of Tonypandy and I in the workaday world on the other side of the tracks.

I mean Tonypandy, U. S. A., of course. The original Tonypandy — as every schoolboy knows, but which I learned only recently when the clamor of readers shamed me into perusing the works of Josephine Tey—is a Welsh town, noted for a brutal massacre that never took place.

The legend is that Churchill, that implacable enemy of labor, in 1910 ordered out government troops to shoot down Tonypandy miners striking for their rights. The facts, as Miss Tey discloses, are that Winnie sent in unarmed bobbies to stop the looting by the demonstrators and that the only casualties were a bloody nose or two. But when legend meets fact, any attempt to preserve law and order becomes "police brutality" in the liberal lexicon.

TONYPANDY, U. S. A., is a sort of generic title for the state of mind in which so many American liberals dwell

It is a highly literate community, and, if it reads only one side, it reads that side well. The daily paper is apparently called "They Say."

The patois is not always easy for an outsider to follow, and the lady's talk was replete with such expressions as "power structure" and "dichotomy," which I'm not too sure of. But she was on more familiar ground when she spoke of the "exploitation of workers," which is Tonypandy for what happens when a fellow gets a job.

THE PHRASE I DREADED most didn't come until coffee: "No man is an island." It is a praiseworthy quotation, to be sure, but constant reiteration has worn it to dullness. In fact, it now gives me a severe pain in the neck.

I reached for a glass of water and surreptitiously swallowed an aspirin with it. Happily, the lady was still expounding her views and didn't notice.

"The way I feel," she continued, "it's one world. I just couldn't be happy while one underprivileged Hottentot was living in substandard housing, could you?"

NO MATTER WHAT they say in those ads, the relief is not instantaneous. This time I tried a Bufferin, not surreptitiously, and the lady waited till I drank my water. Then she said, quietly but insistently, "Could you?"

Still on my good behavior in spite of the pain, I rose to the occasion with a White Lie. Noblesse oblige and all that. "Heavens, no!" I said. "I wouldn't dream of it. Even when I watched Sandy Koufax pitch a no-hitter, that Hottentot was bothering me."

She beamed and I reached for an Anacin—I usually carry one of each of the standard three brands because one is better than the other two combined, but I always forget which—and found I had forgotten it.

SO I SAT THERE in agony while the lady launched into a dissertation on the merits of SANE and civil disobedience and the dangers of Goldwaterism.

Underneath the table my fists were clenched as I asked myself what I had done to deserve all this when the lady stopped and asked, "And what do you think about these matters?"

Numb with pain, I threw discretion to the winds. "Do you really want to know?" I asked.

"Please," she said. "I'd love to hear your views."

SO I TOLD HER—and with each well-chosen word there came blessed relief. When I'd finished, not only was my own pain in the neck gone, but the one sitting next to me had vanished also—back, no doubt, to the gentler regions of Tonypandy.

Just One Volunteer Can Do Much For Fireworks Program

SUCCESS OF THE annual Fourth of July fireworks display in Corte Madera this year will be a credit to Mrs. David E. Swanson.

Mrs. Swanson, former secretary of the fireworks committee, had no volunteer help this year as coordinator of the program.

She alone made plans for the show and collected contributions from Larkspur, Greenbrae and Corte Madera businessmen and organizations to pay for the $1,000 worth of pyrotechnics.

SHE DESERVES the thanks of thousands of persons from Marin County and the San Francisco Bay Area who will witness the spectacular 45-minute show at no cost.

If it were not for Mrs. Swanson, the 14th annual show might not have been realized.

Her biggest problem has been getting volunteers to ask for and collect contributions for the show.

"I GUESS PEOPLE just don't like to ask others for money," she said recently.

Mrs. Swanson said most of the clubs and businesses which she asked for contributions were enthusiastic about doing their part to insure the success of the program.

This year contributions have been mailed to her home at 4 Echo Avenue at such a rate that she hopes the $200 which the show lost last year will be collected in addition to $200 for insurance and $1,000 for fireworks for Sunday's display.

SHE IS ALREADY looking forward to next year's problems.

Sunday's show, to begin at 9 p.m. at the Neil Cummins School playground, will be the last program sponsored by the Larkspur - Corte Madera Joint Recreation Commission.

A new sponsor or sponsors will have to be found if the 15th annual show is realized.

MRS. SWANSON SAID the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce had considered participating in the event next year. Since many of its members have answered her request for funds in the past, it appears that the show would be an excellent project for the chamber.

Support also could come from the Corte Madera Lions Club, which has operated a refreshment stand at the town park before and during the fireworks for several years.

Plans for next year, which might include a parade and a community - wide celebration, as suggested by Mrs. Swanson, must start early, however, so that one volunteer like Mrs. Swanson does not get saddled with all the work.

BLOSSOMS GALORE AT THE FAIR

Members of the Marinwood Garden Club make last-minute adjustments to their exhibit in preparation for the opening of the 20th annual Marin Art and Garden Fair in Ross at 6 p.m. today. The turn-of-the-century theme of the fair is being carried out in stars and stripes, banners and bunting, cascades of red, white and blue flowers, white picket fences, trellises and gazebos — all reminiscent of an old-fashioned Fourth of July picnic.

Bomb Thrown Into Taxi Parking Lot

NEW YORK (UPI) — A gasoline bomb was thrown into a taxicab parking lot early today, setting fire to three cabs as vandalism and violence flared again in the fourth day of a driver's strike for union representation.

Brooklyn police reported the makeshift "Molotov cocktail," a plastic container filled with gasoline and ignited, exploded about dawn at the Cab Transporting Co. parking lot.

Firemen reported damages light. There were no injuries.

Fearing more violence by pro-union roving goons, police warned independent taxicab owners and strike - breaking drivers to stay on main thoroughfares and avoid back streets.

Wednesday police received more than 20 separate reports of injuries to drivers or damage to taxis.

Anti-Castro Arms Seized In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York City police today seized a huge cache of weapons—mortars, machine guns, pistols and ammunition — in the basement of a Brooklyn sporting goods store. Three men were arrested.

Federal agents said the weapons were to have been sent to anti-Castro Cubans in Florida and South America.

Six New York City detectives raided the M & D Sports Shop in Brooklyn shortly before midnight. They seized three 60-millimeter mortars, 25 50-caliber air-cooled machine guns, five 7.62-millimeter machine guns, dozens of pistols and more than 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

The detectives also reported uncovering about $100,000 worth of lathing equipment used to manufacture rifle barrels and ammunition.

The moon is approaching first quarter. The morning stars are Saturn and Jupiter. The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Jean Baptiste, a French general in the American Revolutionary War, was born this day in 1725.

On this day in history:

In 1898, the Rough Riders staged a victorious assault on San Juan Hill in Cuba during the Spanish-American War.

In 1932, the governor of New York, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, was nominated for the presidency by the Democrats meeting in Chicago.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Expert Must Study World Conditions To Play Well

The true bridge expert must study world conditions. If you think your game may be interrupted by earthquake, revolution or enemy attack you should take a trick at the first opportunity.

There is no such hurry if you think you are likely to live until the end of the hand.

Opening lead — ♣ K

POUNCES ON

South showed that he was an alarmist in world politics; he pounced on the trick with dummy's ace of spades.

South got to his hand with the queen of diamonds to ruff his other club in dummy and then led out the king ond queen of trumps.

CAREFUL STUDY

East had studied world conditions more carefully than declarer and was therefore in no hurry to take his trump trick. He discarded a club on the third round of diamonds and carefully ruffed the fourth diamond.

East then returned his last club, and South was stuck in his hand with no way to get to dummy's last diamond. He had to lose two heart tricks, and with them the game and rubber.

It is now clear that South can make the contract by letting a defender win the first round of trumps.

LEADS TRUMP

If West leads another trump (as good a defense as any), dummy wins with the ace, and South gets to his hand with the queen of diamonds to ruff his other club.

Declarer gets back with the ace of hearts to draw all of the trumps with the king and queen. Then he can run all five diamonds without interruption, thus making sure of his contract.

There is a moral to this story: Keep reading your newspaper to play bridge properly.

DAILY QUESTION

You hold:
♠ 9 3
♥ K 7 3
♦ 10 4
♣ A K Q 10 7 3

What do you say?

Game is out of the question with so much strength at your right. Your best chance to show a profit is to keep quiet in the hope that the opponents will stay in notrump. If the other opponent bids two of a suit, you can make up your mind whether or not to compete by bidding three clubs.

'MUCH BIG TALK'

Parallels Seen To 1929 Crash

By LYLE WILSON
U. P. International

Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. missed one notable look-alike when he spoke the other day similarities between business conditions now and during the period preceding the great depression of the 1930s.

The great depression exploded in the autumn of 1929 in a collapse of stock market values. The public was unprepared for economic calamity largely because the talkiest experts and politicians had been claiming for years that the boom was here to stay. President Cal Coolidge was a notable prophet of good times forever.

Martin did not by any means predict another great depression. Nor did he find any precise parallel between now and the events leading up to the depression of the 1930s. But he spotlighted some similarities.

He did not include the current optimism among the talkiest of the experts and confidence now being expressed by the President of the United States that all is well and likely to remain so or get better. Even today's tax cuts echo the past.

That was Coolidge's way. Coolidge was a low pressure propagandist for boom times. His principal forum was his twice weekly press conference. For example, Coolidge in 1926 was vacationing at White Pine Camp, New York.

"The business conditions in the country are more than meeting expectations," Coolidge there told his press conference on July 27, 1926. "The first six months of the current year showed good business conditions and since the first of July there has been something of an advance in general business conditions. I think that is attributable partly to the reduction of taxation. It takes some time to get the full effect of that, but it stimulates business by releasing money that otherwise would go into the public treasury which can go into enterprise."

Sounds familiar!

The soft sell was Coolidge's method. Occasionally he would acknowledge unemployment or endorse Harvard professor William Z. Ripley's campaign against sale to the public of non-voting corporate stock. But Coolidge's optimism was consistent and contagious. It enticed millions of little fellows into the stock market, even as now. On Jan. 8, 1929, a few months away from calamity, Coolidge told his press conference:

"I haven't a great amount of information concerning the business situation, but I was advised this morning by the Department of Commerce that the last six months, according to their reports, was better than the first six months of 1928 and was up to the standard of 1927. So far as they can determine present conditions in business throughout the country are good and the prospect for the immediate future seems to be as good as usual."

President Johnson and his business advisers are equally enhusiastic in their estimates of present conditions, if not more so.

POLITICS IN HAITI

Woman, 90, Her Daughters Jailed For Subversive Actions

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) —A story circluated in whispers through this dusty Caribbean capital that three women, one of them 90 years old, had been arrested for political subversion.

They were the mother and two sisters of Clement Jumelle, late political adversary of President Francois Duvalier. Jumelle was executed publicly for treason several years ago.

Rumors such as this are not uncommon, yet they are heard less frequently than in the past. There are signs that political terrorism in the Republic of Haiti is subsiding, at least temporarily and on the surface.

A dour-faced ex-doctor, Duvalier controls the country through a combination of fear and superstition. He allows no political opposition, and has proclaimed himself president for life.

Duvalier governs from a gleaming, bone-white palace in Port-au-Prince with machine guns, cannon and anti-aircraft guns hidden in the shrubbery. Armored tanks guard the three main entrances and government soldiers in American-made summer khaki uniforms swarm through the palace grounds.

But Duvalier has a more subtle and mysterious method of controlling the minds of the people. He plays on the local superstition of voodoo, those weird beliefs imported from Africa and involving witchcraft.

Defenders of the regime claim force is necessary in a country as socially and economically disorgainzed as Haiti. They point to the dictator's efforts to "improve" the economy.

But the political climate is somewhat less severe than six months ago, observers here say.

The midnight arrests, the summary executions of polilitical opponents and the strong-arm tactics of the secret police are no longer as frequent.

There are two explanations for the apparent thaw. One is that Duvallier, having successfully dealt with attempts to overthrow him, feels more secure in office. The second is that he is easing up in order to ingratiate himself with the United States, in hopes of winning more economic aid.

U.S. aid to Haiti was cut in 1963 when Duvalier refused to abide by the aid agreements and tried to infiltrate the program with his political favorites. It amounted to some ten million dollars—not much, but enough to keep the stalled economy frorm slipping even deeper.

Political observers here believe that the landing of U.S. Marines next door in Santo Domingo also may influence Duvalier to moderate his policies.

Actually, there are two dissident political parties in Haiti. Both are Communist and both are pointedly allowed to operate by Duvalier so that they can be used as levers against the United States.

The two Communist parties are so taken up with bickering among themselves that they pose little threat to the present regime, officials believe.

What will happen in the event of Duvalier's death is anybody's guess. One Haitian exile predicts a Communist takeover from Cuba, and urges immediate action by the United States in the event of a crisis. Others feel the leadership will be taken over by one of the more powerful cabinet ministers.

In any case, the situation will be explosive.

Veterinary School Helps Human Ills

PULLMAN, Wash. (UPI) — Washington State University's five year old training program for doctors of philosophy in veterinary medicine has produced so many results applicable to human medicine that the National Institute of Health has renewed its support for five more years.

Dr. R. W. Leader, director of the program, said the projects with possible human applications include work with albino cattle and mink having implications in cancer research and another mink project connected with arthritis, rheumatic fever and heart disease.

Bay Congressman Seeks Safe Roads

WASHINGTON (AP) — A series of tragic accidents on a newly opened section of a California highway has brought a movement in Congress for a nationwide program of traffic safety.

The House Public Works Committee unanimously approved June 24 an amendment to a pending highway bill to require that all states, to be eligible for continued federal aid for highway construction, establish by Dec. 31, 1967, a highway safety program meeting uniform minimum standards to be prescribed by the secretary of commerce. Rep. John F. Baldwin, R-Contra Costa County, a member of the committee, sponsored the amendment. He outlined the background and objectives in an interview in which the questions and answers went like this:

Q. What do you hope to accomplish by your traffic safety amendment?

A. Last year, there were 47,800 killed on U. S. highways, a new high. There were 1.700,000 injured, also a new high. The total highway injuries last year American casualties in one year in any war, including World War I and World War II. This tremendous accident and death toll is crying for a remedy.

My hope is that Congress, by passing this provision, will give a strong stimulus for the states to undertake an active campaign to increase highway safety.

Q. Is there any particular situation that drew your attention to this problem?

A. Yes. My deep interest in this arose with the opening last December of a six-mile section of Interstate highway in Contra Costa County between Walnut Creek and Danville. In the first three weeks, there were 17 or 18 accidents at one particular spot, including a fatality and a tragic injury to a young high school athlete from which he has not yet recovered.

The injured boy's father, Paul W. Shipley, Danville, telephoned me to ask that something be done about the hazard. I got in touch with highway officials. The number of accidents at that location showed clearly that steps should be taken immediately to correct the conditions causing the accidents so other motorists using the road would not be subject to the same risks.

This section of road later was determined to be defective. There was too low a coefficient of friction and the contractor was required to groove the pavement, and also the State Division of Highways put in several hundred feet of metal beam guard rail to prevent skidding vehicles from leaving the road.

Mr. Shipley, who is a brother of Rep. George E. Shipley of Illinois, subsequently worked out and sent me suggestions for a nationwide highway safety program. I have sent them to the Bureau of Public Roads.

Q. What kind of safety measures would be included in state highway safety programs under your amendment?

A. The amendment specifies that the safety program "shall include, but not be limited to, provisions for an effective accident records system and measures calculated to improve driver performance, vehicle safety, highway design and maintenance, traffic control and surveillance of traffic for detection and correction of high or potentially high accident locations.

Haunted House Still Fit

BLACKWELL, England (AP)-Frank Slater asked the local borough council to find him and his family a new house. He claimed the present one is haunted.

R. L. Charlesworth, the council's housing officer, ruled: 'Ghosts or no ghosts the Slaters can be rehoused only if their property is unfit for habitation, which it is not."

Slater's wife, Jessie, said. "We have seen strange apparitions in the house. Statuettes of saints have been broken and cups, saucers and other crockery have been smashed."

The Slaters got the Assistant Bishop of Derby (Anglican) to bless the cottage. "It is now a matter of seeing whether the blessing has been a success," said Assistant Bishop Thomas Parfit.

BOYLE'S VIET NAM REPORT

'Tiger Eyes' Counts Days To Trip Home

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — In a month now the American major whom the Vietnamese call "Tiger Eyes" will be going home, and he's counting the days.

"The bullets seem to hit closer all the time," said Maj. Robert E. Ley, 34, McAlester, Okla., whose wife and four children now live in Edgewater Park, N.J.

The major, a slender former Army tankman, won his nickname because of his piercing green eyes. He wears a bright orange scarf into battle and comes from a family of warriors.

His grandfather, a Choctaw Indian from Georgia, lost his leg at the age of 13 while fighting for the Confederacy in the Battle of Chickamauga. The major is a 1954 graduate of West Point.

Ley is operations officer of the Da Nang special sector. He and the senior sector adviser, Lt. Col. Charles H. Brown, El Paso, Tex., also an ex-tank officer, have rung up a record here that will make them remembered in South Viet Nam for a long time.

Last October their advisory team, consisting of three officers and eight enlisted men, was given the task of helping organize the safety of a 150-square-mile sector. It included the city of Da Nang and its air base.

They had six Vietnamese companies strung around the perimeter and two in reserve. Against them was an enemy force roughly equal in number but more experience — four "main force" Viet Cong companies and 750 guerrillas.

"The only way we could beat them was to go out and fight them," said Ley. "We didn't curl up and wait for them to hit us. We took the initiative. We surprised them."

The team organized innumerable patrols and 42 assaults of company size or larger. In one operation they flew 700 men in helicopters to smash an enemy grouping.

Their aggressive record speaks for itself.

"We've killed 400 Viet Cong, captured 400, and taken about 100 weapons," said Ley. "We've had only 25 men killed and 60 wounded. We've never had a man taken prisoner, or one who defected.

"We've never had an American killed or wounded. Our troops have stood and fought. Men won't fight unless they are well led. Our Vietnamese officers are fine."

Times Do Change A Little

STONEVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Twenty years ago letters from North Africa and Italy addressed to "Momma, Stoneville, Miss.," reached their destination.

"Momma" happened to be the postmaster at Stoneville, Mrs. Beulah M. Weilenma, whose son was serving in the armed forces during World War II.

Letters still come today addressed to "Momma, Stoneville, Miss." But these are to Mrs. Jane Weilenman Head, who succeeded her mother, and the letters are from Mrs. Head's son in college.

"But there's one difference," said Mrs. Head. "He always adds the zip code."

Race Issue Clouds Space Research In South Africa

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may consider closing its three satellite tracking stations in South Africa because of the South African government's public insistence that this country cannot send Negro scientists to the stations.

Questioned at a news conference Monday on whether the United States presently plans to continue the satellite tracking stations in operation, a State Department spokesman said "surely."

However, press office Robert J. Mc Closkey made clear in response to follow-up questions that he was speaking only for the moment and before the situation has been reviewed in the light of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd's latest move.

The United States is planning to go ahead meanwhile with a Fourth of July party at the U. S. Embassy in Pretoria to which Negroes as well as white persons are being invited.

In spite of South Africa's policy of apartheid the United States began holding official functions in South Africa on July 4, 1963, without regard to racial discrimination.

Several days ago Verwoerd said in a political speech that his government would boycott such U. S. gatherings. He asserted the United States is trying to teach integration to his country.

Then came the statement over the weekend in which Verwoerd made a public issue of what never had been a practical problem up to this time. He said his government would not admit American Negroes if they were assigned to work at the tracking stations.

Officiails here said they had not received Verwoerd's statement. They generally conceded that the South African premier is forcing the United States to consider now whether the stations should be closed. There is some feeling that the United States might be compelled to take this action because of the moral and political issues involved.

Stuffing Chicken

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — The smallest, youngest member of the chicken family that is suitable for roasting and especially nice with stuffing is the Rock Cornish, according to the University of Georgia extension service. This bird usually weighs one and one-half pounds or less.

Ready To Try Again

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. Minnie K. Reagan was doing beautifully on her first test drive — until she decided to stop. Her foot found the accelerator instead of the brake and the car careened into a telephone pole. The accident apparently failed to discourage the 75-year-old Gadsden housewife, She "talked like she wants to continue to learn to drive," said the instructor, L.W. Barnett.

For 7 bright talents, 7 bronze awards

Take a good look at these young people. We did, in sponsoring the "MOST VALUABLE STAFFER AWARD" program of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association here in Marin.

They look like the future to us—and the awards and the future couldn't be in better hands.

Each of these young people was chosen, under this national program, for making the most valuable contribution to his or her school newspaper during the 1964-65 school year.

They were dedicated, talented . . . and hard-working. Like good journalists they took the job of communicating the world of school events to their fellows as a challenge. And they went beyond the standards of doing a good job. They excelled.

You can be proud of them, as we are. And proud too, of their journalism instructors who coached and encouraged these talented young people to turn talent into action.

We at the I-J were delighted to put their story in bronze—an engraved plaque for each. But THEY wrote it. And that's the real award.

Basis of the Awards

- Sponsored for all high schools and the College of Marin by the Independent-Journal.
- Student must be a good student, as determined by the faculty or instructor.
- Selected student to be chosen by the school.
- Be a person who has made the greatest contribution to the success of the school newspaper during the school year, regardless of his position . . . setting high standards of personal accomplishment.

To recognize journalistic talent in young people . . . to encourage interest in a newspaper career

Recipe For Glamour
Take one large lot on a Mill Valley hillside, add a view of green valleys and golden hills. Let sit for several years to mature. Then add a well-built 3 bedroom house with a fetching entry courtyard, place rich paneling in the living room, the dining room AND the kitchen. As a base use one large studio-workroom the full length of the upper layer. For garnish, add gold leaf, stained glass, Austrian shades, stone lions, dramatic planters to taste. You'll find this an economical dish costing only $36,000 at

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

House Signs Cause Trouble

Center City prided itself on its homes. It zoned residential districts strictly. For example, it made it unlawful to put signs on land there.

Joe Johnson put his home up for sale with the Surefire Realty Co. It posted a "For Sale" sign on Joe's lot.

The court upheld the law. Zoning laws are well within a city's powers if they have any reasonable basis. This law, the court said, did have a reasonable basis although it did hamper certain businesses.

Cities and counties have wide latitude, but they cannot curb free speech.

The Constitution would protect a big political sign on your house sooner than it would a small sign advertising a local doughnut shop. But your sign, like others, should not interfere with traffic or create hazards.

In many cities, planning groups review commercial signs under standards set by the city. Courts may review their rulings, but seldom do they overturn them without evidence of abuse of discretion.

Soldier Too Good At His Viet Job

By HAL BOYLE

KHE SANH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Capt. Nguyen Xuan Loc is a man who doesn't like his job but is so good at it they can't let him go on to something bigger.

He has won a kind of "Lawrence of Arabia" reputation in the mountainous northwest corner of this country and military victory if it comes depends on men like Capt. Loc.

He is tall, handsome, quick-witted and speaks good English. Loc, 33, had been an outstanding soldier for 10 years when he was picked to be district chief here. A district chief is roughly equivalent to a powerful county political boss in the United States.

Loc's assignment was a rough one. It was to win over and protect Montagnard tribespeople scattered in a thinly populated area of about 1,800 square miles. It is bordered on the west by Laos and on the north by the demilitarized zone along the 17th Parallel.

The captain is a native Vietnamese born in Hanoi. Giving him the district chief's job was like appointing someone named McCoy as a good-will envoy to the Hatfield family during that famous feud, for the poverty-ridden Montagnards traditionally dislike the Vietnamese and the Vietnamese look down on the Montagnards as illiterate savages.

But there are several hundred thousands of these tribespeople and how they go can have an important effect on this war.

To counter the initial distrust he knew he would meet, Loc appointed a Montagnard as his deputy and put others in important civic and military positions.

He also imported rice to feed the hungry tribespeople, convinced them to try more productive farming techniques and trained them to fight better.

The captain has made an impressive record in 20 months as district chief.

Before he came the Montagnards quickly lost 92 out of 150 weapons issued them by the Vietnamese government but of 250 weapons that he issued he said none had been lost.

"Our Montagnards used to fire only at Vietnamese Viet Cong but not at Montagnard Viet Cong" he said "but I have taught them that if we are to win Montagnards must fire at Montagnards if they are with the enemy.

"I feel that 90 per cent of the Montagnards are now loyal to me. Twice at the risk of their own lives the villagers have warned me of assassination attempts against me."

Loc would like to resume command in the Vietnamese army or take special training in the U.S. Infantry School at Ft. Benning, Ga., but his is the tragedy of the indispensable man. His present role is so important his superiors are afraid to promote him.

"I am not a politician," said the captain, "I do not like this job but it is my duty and I always do my duty.

"The Montagnards say that if I am replaced by someone they don't like they will turn in their weapons and refuse to help the government. But the people must stay loyal if we are to win."

Officers Solve 10 Burglaries

Ten burglaries involving a total of about $300 cash in the Terra Linda and upper San Rafael area during the past month have been solved with questioning of two youths, sheriff's officers reported yesterday.

Entry was usually by prying doors or windows, he said. The break in the investigation came when the 14-year-old, a San Francisco newspaper carrier, accidentally left a collection book in one of the homes.

Deputy Charles Prandi, who aided Johansen and Deputy J. G. Kelly in the investigation, said largest burglary was that of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Lee, 163 Merrydale Road, Los Ranchitas. The residence was entered via an unlocked bedroom window during the past four days.

Prandi said only $5 cash was taken, but a pearl necklace and two bracelets joined into a choker, worth $500, were taken from a jewelry box and dumped into the kitchen stove. The items were recovered from the stove on return of the Lee couple Monday.

Attorney Sues County In Fall

Wallace Scott Myers, city attorney for Fairfax and member of a San Anselmo law firm, yesterday filed a $15,000 personal injury damage suit against the County of Marin for a fall last Dec. 30 in the county courthouse.

Myers alleges in the Marin Superior Court complaint that a heavily waxed and slippery floor in the Department Three Superior Courtroom at San Rafael courthouse caused him to fall and fracture a lower back bone.

He also asks $500 for loss of earnings caused by the injury, and medical exepnses. Myers stated he filed a $3,603.50 claim with the county board of supervisors April 1, and the claim was rejected April 6.

Refugees Sought For Vanishing Species

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson has introduced a bill which would provide natural sanctuaries for native birds, fish and mammals threatened with extinction.

The Washington Democrat said the Interior Department had reported the vanishing of 24 species and subspecies of American birds and 12 mammals. He said 35 more mammals and 30 to 40 species of native birds are threatened with early extermination.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Many oldsters have a grayish or white ring around the edge of the cornea of the eye. The circle (arcus senilis) stems from deposits of cholesteral and other fatty substances similar to that found in hardened arteries. Numerous studies have been done to link the two conditions.

In general, arcus senilis and arteriosclerosis are inevitable consequences of aging. Both represent accumulations of cholesterol except that arteries carry blood and the cornea is bloodless. In addition, arcus senilis occasionally is noted in men under age 50 who are normal in every respect except they have a higher blood cholesterol than men of a similar age without the disorder.

THIS EYE DEFECT is more common in younger persons who have survived a heart attack. In this instance, a relationship exists between arcus senilis, cholesterol, and hardening of the coronary arteries.

Men of this age cannot be classified as senile and in this respect the name of the eye condition is a misnomer. In the final analysis, the severity of this hazy circle is related more to the amount of cholesterol in the blood serum than to age and degree of arteriosclerosis.

ALCOHOLISM IN the elderly is fairly common and occurs in men and women. Two types are noted. Those who have been heavy drinkers for years—and continue to drink—often have emotional and personality disturbances that contribute to their habit. The second group consists of late starters who were teetotalers or moderate drinkers until late in life. They began to drink to excess because of severe emotional stress resulting from the death of a spouse, loneliness, or feelings of being unwanted.

An elderly widow expressed it as "whisky became my only friend and pleasure left to me." These oldsters are pitiful, especially when they drink too much, eat too little, neglect themselves, deteriorate mentally and physically, and finally refuse treatment until it is too late.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

HARMLESS REDUCING REMEDY

J. F. writes: I am 88 years old and have a gargantuan appetite. As a result, I am about 10 pounds overweight. Can you recommend some harmless remedy that would help me pull my feet from under the table in order to preserve my waistline?

REPLY

Will power is the most harmless of all reducing remedies.

THE KEY

Y. Z. writes: Is surgery necessary for a locking knee? Whenever I squat, one knee locks and stays locked for three days.

REPLY

Operation may be necessary. A common cause of this symptom is a torn cartilage that gets in the way and, like a stick in an open door, will not allow the hinge to close.

DIABETIC DIET

E. N. writes: I am a diabetic and buy the nonsweet fruits which are very expensive. Could I use regular fruit if the sirup is washed off?

REPLY

It helps, but there is no reason why special fruits are needed. Ask your physician to adjust your diet.

FURROWED BROW

M. M. writes: Can furrowing of the brow between the eyes and under the eyes be removed by dermabrasion?

REPLY

Novato Carnival Slated Tomorrow

A city-wide carnival will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. tomorrow at the Marion School playgrounds, sponsored by the Novato parks and recreation department.

Booths and games will be operated by representatives of the recreation department from each of the six playgrounds. Tickets may be had at the carnival area, according to Edward W. Adams, director.

$450 Painting Stolen At Dinery

An oil by contemporary French painter Renee Theobald, valued at $450, was stolen Monday night from the Musee O'Art International in Dominic's Harbor Restaurant, 507 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

The 26-by-32-inch painting, which shows a French harbor scene with a small sailing craft, was ripped from its spot on the wall in the restaurant lobby sometime after 10 p.m., museum manager Nancy E. Stone told San Rafael police Tuesday.

Miss Stone said three paintings have been stolen from the museum in recent months.

Observation Due Bad Check Suspect

Warren Bailey Beard, 27, was ordered transferred for 90 days observation at California Medical Facility at Vacaville yesterday in Marin Superior Court, prior to further proceedings on two counts of passing worthless checks.

Beard, of Sausalito, is accused of passing a $76.60 bad check July 4 1964 with intent to defraud Dolphin Marine Sales, 2060 Redwood Highway, and three checks last March 8, 10, and 12 to defraud three food markets.

Novato Artists To Show Work

An art show featuring oil paintings and sculpture of three Novato artists offered today and will continue through Monday, from noon until dusk, at 1216 Lynwood Drive, Novato.

The show, in a Lynwood model home, will display impressionistic and realistic studies by Carl Broderick and Von Heim (Mrs. Harry V. Heim in private life), and an unusual form of "tin sculpture" by Charles Heim, 15-year-old senior at Terra Linda High School.

Almonte Sanitary Budget Is Studied

Almonte Sanitary District directors Tuesday night went over the fiscal 1966 budget item by item but agreed to take no action until the July 26 meeting, at which the board expects to have actual figures of assessed valuation, chairman Robert A. Alexander said today.

The preliminary budget is in the neighborhood of $18,000, about $1,500 over the current budget.

TELEVISION REVIEW

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The Emmy awards, television's answer to Confederate money in the past, is all revamped, and has thrown out all those crazy categories, and the main standard now is simply "excellence," so here are some of the nominees: "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." and "Mr. Novak."

I knew you'd be thrilled, but hold on to those silver dollars anyway. Under the new Emmy system, expert committees help screen the entries, and of course the current direction of the awards is somewhat of an improvement over the past, chiefly because things couldn't get worse. Still, however, the nominations revealed several days ago indicate some pretty loose and sloppy standards for "excellence," as noted in the above paragraph—as well as some amazing oversights.

Furthermore, so far as I know, CBS news is continuing to refuse to participate in the awards — an honorable move aimed at establishing a separate journalistic prize system, outside the showbiz aura, as a matter of dignity. Which makes the Emmys worth that much less, properly.

In their nominations for top entertainment programs, the selectors couldn't help but include such outings as the Barbra Streisand special, "Profiles in Courage" and the "Hall of Fame" broadcasts. But in addition to the ludicrous nominations of "U.N.C.L.E." and "Novak" (excellence, remember?), there are also such highly questionable choices on the list as the Andy Williams show (so-so), the Bob Hope Theatre (ditto) and the individual "Hall of Fame" production, "The Magnificent Yankee," a very thin piece of work about Oliver Wendell Holmes starring Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne in amiable performances.

Danny Thomas' "Wonderful World of Burlesque" special was properly nominated, but more properly all his specials should also have been selected as a unit, so good were they, though Streisand's hour was the best entertainment of the year. Yet if Williams' and Hope's series were chosen, how could Jack Paar and "The Hollywood Palace"—both infinitely better series candidates — be overlooked?

And why not the Red Skelton-Marcel Marceau pantomine hour? And the Shakespearean production "The Hollow Crown"? And "the Fantasticks"? And the entertainment-documentary "The Beatles in America"? And the Meredith Willson specials? And the Dinah Shore-Harry Belafonte Peace Corps musicale?

As for the nominations for top news documentary information sports programs, one can't argue with such selections as "The Louvre" and "I, Leonardo da Vinci." Yet the CBS non-participation makes the award less than whole because, apparently, such entries as the "CBS Reports" hour on Pablo Casals at 88 (a near-perfect presentation), the "World War I" series, the "1945" program, the D-Day broadcast with Dwight Eisenhower, the beautiful transatlantic tribute to the late President Kennedy on his 47th birthday (with his widow), the "CBS Reports" hour on convict Clarence Earl Gideon (whose handwritten petition helped establish the absolute right to counsel in a felony case)—all these belong to an outsider.

The Emmy people could have risen to an occasion by nominating CBS-TV news programs anyway. It could have given the awards needed distinction.

Complex Case

DENVER (AP) — Dist. Judge James C. Flanighan telephoned his wife that a complex case would make him late for dinner. He listened for a moment, hung up and hastily recessed court for an hour. He explained his wife's bowling ball was in the back seat of his automobile and she had to have it for a league match.

San Ramon was named for St. Raymond of the Order of Mercy.
